Premier Faure Fighting For Political Life

Assembly Vote Tuesday Expected To Write End To French Cabinet

PARIS (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure, fighting against delays in his program for quick elections, asked for a vote of confidence on the question of starting debate next week for an electoral reform law.

The premier thus staked the life of his government on a ballot scheduled to be taken in the Assembly Tuesday afternoon.

The vote will be on a procedural question. The agenda committee of the Assembly this morning decided that a debate should start Tuesday on a question which denounces indecision on the part of the government and implies that the Faure regime is no longer capable of carrying on.

Faure asked for the confidence vote on the question of turning down the recommendations of the agenda committee and instead opening debate on Tuesday on the electoral law.

At the same time Faure announced that the government is submitting a new project to speed the elections. The original government proposal calls for ending the present Assembly on Jan. 2, with elections in December. Since this is impossible, the Premier insists that the mandate of the present Assembly should be ended seven weeks after the new election law is voted, or if not agreement can be reached on an election law, on Feb. 16 at the latest.

* * *

THIS, FAURE said, would give Parliament until Dec. 31 to work out an agreement on a new election law.

The vote in the agenda committee, made up of the presidents of all parties and heads of the other Assembly committees, indicated Faure would be defeated 375-224.

Though only a few parties can maintain such discipline, the possible heavy margin against the premier indicated doom.

Before Faure made his decision to call for the confidence vote, deputies had been divided on just which issue to use in killing off the government. Some favored a debate on general policies or on Morocco. Others wanted to use the election question.

Until he brought up the idea of voting in December, instead of next June a regularly scheduled, the premier had been able to patch up Assembly majorities to approve major policies. Now it seems doubtful he can get backing for anything.

The election issue gave former Premier Pierre Mendes - France and other leading Radical Socialist deputies the chance to move into open opposition. Faure is also a Radical Socialist, but many members of his party for a long time have supported him only to make a show of party unity.

Red Chinese All Ready For Formosa Stab

BERLIN (AP)—Communist China's deputy premier, Chen Yi, has been quoted here as saying Red China will invade Formosa if negotiations with the United States break down.

His statement was made in an interview printed by Junge Welt, communist East Germany's official youth newspaper.

Chen Yi listed the following "active" preparations for invasion:

1. Railroads are "rapidly" being built in the province of Fukien, on the mainland across from Formosa. Previously this province had no railroads, Chen Yi added.

2. "Numerous" airfields for jet planes are under construction on the coastline bordering Formosa.

3. "Numerous" ships are being built "in order to sail across to Formosa."

U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Non have been negotiating since Aug. 1 in Geneva on the release of American civilians from China and other differences between the two countries. The only concrete result of the secret talks so far evident has been the progressive release of American prisoners by the Peiping regime.

Brazilian Seige Decree Approved

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A declaration of state of seige, approved by Congress, was expected to take effect today.

Prime object of the declaration is to prevent the Supreme Court from reinstating Joao Cafe Filho in the presidency. He took a leave of absence Nov. 8 after a slight heart attack.

Powerful army leaders headed by the war minister, Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, opposed Cafe's resumption of power. They suspect him of participating in an alleged plot to block the inauguration next Jan. 31 of President-elect Juscelino Kutitschek, political heir of the late President Vargas.

Russians Rough On Football Rioters

MOSCOW (AP)—Stiff prison sentences have been given 12 persons for starting a riot at a football game in Armenia.

Veteran Western observers say the severity of the sentences, ranging up to 25 years, indicated political motivation in smoldering discontent in the area.

The 12 were tried by the Armenian Supreme Court. They were charged with fomenting the riot Oct. 12 after a disputed decision by a referee at Yerevan, capital of the Armenian Soviet Republic.

Seven deer fell.

French Boycott Of U. N. Seen Nearing End

World Body Reported Dropping Debate Of Explosive Algeria Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—France's boycott of the U.N. General Assembly was believed near an end today with agreement reported on a plan to drop the explosive Algerian question from the Assembly agenda.

Informed sources said the Asian-African bloc and France have approved an Indian resolution declaring no discussion of the issue is necessary at the present time and the Assembly is no longer concerned with the question.

No serious opposition was foreseen and the French boycott was expected to be called off by the end of the day.

France walked out of the Assembly Sept. 30 after a 28-27 vote to debate Algerian nationalists' fight for independence.

The Asian-African bloc supported the nationalists. The French maintain Algeria is a part of metropolitan France, making the issue a domestic problem and outside U.N. jurisdiction.

An Arab spokesman said the Asian-Arab group did not now intend "an appeasement of the French."

* * *

"IT IS UP to them to come back or not," he said. "But in Algeria, as in Morocco, negotiations are underway. We do not wish to prejudice these negotiations, and so we will not press the issue."

On another touchy question, the admission of 18 applicants to the U. N. this year, the United States appeared to have relaxed its adamant opposition to Communist Outer Mongolia.

A Western source said the Americans now realize such friends as Italy, Japan, Spain (all among the 18 applicants involved) would blame the United States if its opposition to the central Asian satellite stalled the membership deal.

The Soviets have said they would veto all the non-Communist candidates unless the five Communist countries (Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Outer Mongolia) got in.

The Western informant said the United States still would abstain in the vote on all the Reds, but was about ready to let Canada and others line up sufficient ballots to admit all 18.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. previously had questioned Outer Mongolia's right to be considered an independent state and was said to believe it could not get the necessary majority for membership.

Nationalist China has said in the past it would veto the application of Outer Mongolia whenever it came up in the Security Council, but several delegations have put strong pressure on the Chinese to abstain on the vote.

Thursday Slated For 'S-D Day'

CHICAGO (AP) — Next Thursday is S-D Day, set apart to test the effectiveness of pleas and campaigns for safe driving.

President Eisenhower's Committee for Traffic Safety designated Dec. 1 for the nationwide observance. The idea behind S-D Day is to achieve a sharp cut in traffic deaths and to emphasize to pedestrians and motorists that safety is an everyday proposition, not just on holiday weekends.

For purposes of comparison, there were 57 traffic fatalities Thursday, Nov. 17. On the first observance of S-D Day, Dec. 15, 1954, there were 51.

Grange Says Policy Making Farmer Second Class Citizen

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Grange, America's largest farm organization, charges that an Eisenhower administration policy is making "second class citizens" out of U. S. farmers.

The Grange said that while a farm emergency exists at home, the government is blocking competitive sale of surplus crops overseas by encouraging old customers to raise their own farm products.

Such government practices are making "second-class citizens" out of the little and middle-sized American farmers, whose income has dropped to prewar levels, it was stated in a report adopted last night by delegates to the National Grange convention.

The Grange has a membership of 850,000 in 37 states. Its 89th annual convention closes today.

"American agriculture is in a state of emergency," the report said. It added:

'Neither 90 per cent, nor 75 per cent, nor 60 per cent price support levels provide any assurance against the buildup of surplus stocks of major export crops as long as government policies block the competitive sale of those crops on the world market.

'As one branch of the government is sponsoring lower price supports and advocating curtailment of production, another branch of the government is restricting foreign sales and endorsing huge expenditures to expand the agricultural output of foreign nations that once were our customers. Those foreign nations are now competing with us and underselling us."

Delegates were told that nine per cent of the nation's farmers produce 51 per cent of farm commodities that move commercially.

Some 1,500,000 farmers earn less than $1,000 a year, while on a somewhat higher scale are 3,300,000 family farmers.

The report said their incomes have been sliding down in order to foster agriculture in other countries, at the same time that the nation's wages, corporation earnings, retailing, processing, communications companies and other parts of the economy are experiencing record prosperity.

Congress and the administration were urged to provide for export sales at competitive prices to recoup a fair share of world markets, to establish stronger soil conservation measures, to set up commodity-by-commodity programs to match production with demands, and to adjust trade programs.

Other recommendations included selling surpluses abroad on an installment plan and swapping them for strategic raw materials, and building research programs to find markets for farm products.

Approved by the Grange were resolutions favoring social security for farms, expansion of federal highway programs, catastrophe insurance with government backing, a strong United Nations, uniform traffic laws in all states, and gradual reduction of armaments.

The Grange voted disapproval of any threat to abolish the Rural Electrification Administration and frowned on toll television, a federal sales tax, socialized medicine, the serving of liquor on airplanes, daylight savings time and peacetime military training.

Red Iron Hand Rules Even In Embassy Yard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia's effort to prevent its people from reading Western publications has reached into the flower garden of the U. S. Embassy at Prague.

Long before the Communists came, the people of Prague enjoyed taking Sunday walks. Traditionally, all the embassies which lie in the shadow of the presidential palace have thrown open their gates to the strolling public.

This fall, the American Embassy set up a small table in its courtyard. On the table were spread back issues of U.S. magazines which the embassy staff had received from home. These publications included fashion magazines and some news magazines.

Czechs leafed through them and by the end of the first day all the magazines had disappeared. In time, the embassy was doing a land office business in back-issue magazines.

Soon the Communist regime, which forbids all Western literature to its people, got wind of what was happening.

On Nov. 11 the Czech Foreign Office called in Harold C. Vedeler, in charge of the embassy.

Vedeler was told the display of U.S. magazines within ready reach of Czech citizens was "unwelcome." He argued the magazines were not propaganda but simply reflected American culture.

Nevertheless, the table no longer sits in the courtyard on Sundays.

Famed Logan Yule Pageant Readied

LOGAN — Thousands of visitors are expected here Sunday for the eighth annual Southeastern Ohio Christmas Pageant and Parade.

Twenty-one bands are scheduled to participate in the colorful event sponsored by the Logan Ministerial Assn., Band Boosters and Trade Club. The pageant will be staged on the local high school athletic field at 3 p. m. with the parade to follow.

The electric light switch on Logan's famed downtown street decorations will be thrown tonight during a celebration which will include a parade and the arrival of Santa Claus.

Advisers To Dems Condemn Ike Farm Plan As 'Failure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic advisory committee has unanimously condemned the Eisenhower administration's flexible farm price support system as "an absolute failure."

Reporting yesterday to the Democratic National Committee, the special group said the administration program "truly has been painful to both farmers and consumers."

It said "farmers have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy" while "consumer costs continued to an all-time high."

The committee, which included former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan, concluded:

"We recommend that the Democratic party reaffirm its stand in favor of full parity with supports at not less than 90 per cent."

Parity is a standard said by law to give farmers a fair return for what they sell in relation to their cost of operation.

* * *

THE REPORT contended the administration program is "liquidating the traditional American pattern of family farming." And it said President Eisenhower has "made clear" that this program will be "pursued relentlessly and without significant modification."

The committee urged that 90 per cent supports be coupled with "such new and existing tools as will assure a sound and effective national food, fiber and conservation program, equitable to both consumers and producers."

Recommendations included "sympathetic aid" from the government for rural electrification and other cooperatives, expansion of programs for domestic food distribution, increased exports and lower interest rates on all types of farm loans.

'Separate-But-Equal' Facilities Ruled To Be 'Unreasonable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an end to racial segregation on interstate trains and passenger buses. It ruled too that segregation of travelers in public waiting rooms is unlawful.

The commission, in years past has gone along with the theory that separate accommodations for the races met the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act, so long as they are equal.

But it said in today's ruling:

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race must be regarded under present conditions as unreasonable.

"Also, he is entitled to be free of annoyances, some petty and some substantial, which almost inevitably accompany segregation even though the rail carriers, as most of the defendants have done here, sincerely try to provide both races with equally convenient and comfortable cars and waiting rooms."

* * *

THE ICC TOOK note that the Supreme Court decided in its historic public school ruling of May 1954, that "the policy of separating the races is usually interpreted as noting the inferiority of the Negro group."

The commission recalled that race discrimination complaints have been coming before it since its organization in 1887.

Through the years, the ICC sanctioned "separate - but-equal" accommodations in the transportation field.

About 10 years ago, it gave its approval to an arrangement worked out by the Southern Railway for serving Negroes in its diners behind a curtain.

The Supreme Court in 1950 condemned this, striking down segregation in railroad dining cars. Under orders from the court, the ICC issued the appropriate orders relating to diners.

Desegregation orders were entered against a group of other railroads and the Carolina Coach Co. They require compliance on or before Jan. 10, 1956. The orders were entered against:

School Finance Study Slated To Be Delayed

COLUMBUS (AP) — State Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain), said today a legislative study committee probably will wait until after the General Assembly's January session to begin an examination of school finances.

Mosher heads a study committee created by the Ohio Legislative Service Commission to carry out a request of the last Legislature.

At the last session, the House adopted a resolution by Rep. Kenneth L. Beckwith (R-Morgan) calling on the commission to look into the question of equalizing schools funds and taxes within counties.

School districts now keep for their own use the local taxes and state subsidies they receive. Some districts with large industrial plants thus have far bigger incomes than predominantly agricultural districts in the same county.

Poorer districts have suggested that the well-fixed areas share.

Mosher said he wanted to wait until after the Jan. 16 session to see if any school matters arise.

A change in the state constitution approved by voters in the Nov. 8 election requires the session. The change authorizes a $150 million bond issue for public buildings, including schools in distressed districts.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche said he favored the idea of more equitable distribution of school funds to districts within counties, especially where large new utility plants in rural areas provided large revenues only for their district.

After 32 Years, His Maiden Speech

LONDON (AP)—The Marquis of Cholmondeley made his first speech in the House of Lords yesterday after 32 years in the British Parliament's august upper house.

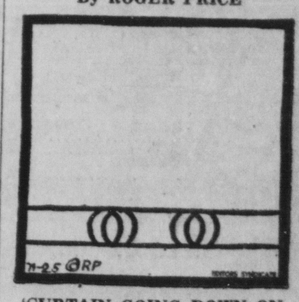

"At long last," he told his fellow peers, "I have been brought to my feet by the wish to do something about rabbits." He said:

"I know a neighbor who will not try to catch his rabbits and the only way to deal with him is by drastic legislation."

Rabbits do great damage to crops in Britain and the subject of how to control them is debated constantly in Parliament.

Think it's easy to be a Cowboy today? No sir! Ever stop to think of all the stuff a Cowboy's gotta carry while he's ridin' the range? First, there's his Basic Equipment: Lassoe, six-shooter, guitar, tuning fork and 3 or 4 packages of bicarbonate (a Chuck Wagon isn't the Stork Club you know). Then there's his 10-gallon hat and his boots with sharp pointy toes (used for digging in, balancing and settling election bets). And of course he has to carry tobacco and paper so he can roll his own cigarettes and a can of rubber cement so he can glue the filter tips on. Believe me the Cowboy deserves to be a National Hero because he's put the West where it is today and you know where the West is. It's about halfway between St. Louis and Louella Parsons, that's where.

French Boycott Of U. N. Seen Nearing End

World Body Reported Dropping Debate Of Explosive Algeria Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—France's boycott of the U.N. General Assembly was believed near an end today with agreement reported on a plan to drop the explosive Algerian question from the Assembly agenda.

Informed sources said the Asian-African bloc and France have approved an Indian resolution declaring no discussion of the issue is necessary at the present time and the Assembly is no longer concerned with the question.

No serious opposition was foreseen and the French boycott was expected to be called off by the end of the day.

France walked out of the Assembly Sept. 30 after a 28-27 vote to debate Algerian nationalists' fight for independence.

The Asian-African bloc supported the nationalists. The French maintain Algeria is a part of metropolitan France, making the issue a domestic problem and outside U.N. jurisdiction.

An Arab spokesman said the Asian-Arab group did not now intend "an appeasement of the French."

* * *

"IT IS UP to them to come back or not," he said. "But in Algeria, as in Morocco, negotiations are underway. We do not wish to prejudice these negotiations, and so we will not press the issue."

On another touchy question, the admission of 18 applicants to the U. N. this year, the United States appeared to have relaxed its adamant opposition to Communist Outer Mongolia.

A Western source said the Americans now realize such friends as Italy, Japan, Spain (all among the 18 applicants involved) would blame the United States if its opposition to the central Asian satellite stalled the membership deal.

The Soviets have said they would veto all the non-Communist candidates unless the five Communist countries (Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania and Outer Mongolia) got in.

The Western informant said the United States still would abstain in the vote on all the Reds, but was about ready to let Canada and others line up sufficient ballots to admit all 18.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. previously had questioned Outer Mongolia's right to be considered an independent state and was said to believe it could not get the necessary majority for membership.

Nationalist China has said in the past it would veto the application of Outer Mongolia whenever it came up in the Security Council, but several delegations have put strong pressure on the Chinese to abstain on the vote.

Thursday Slated For 'S-D Day'

CHICAGO (AP) — Next Thursday is S-D Day, set apart to test the effectiveness of pleas and campaigns for safe driving.

President Eisenhower's Committee for Traffic Safety designated Dec. 1 for the nationwide observance. The idea behind S-D Day is to achieve a sharp cut in traffic deaths and to emphasize to pedestrians and motorists that safety is an everyday proposition, not just on holiday weekends.

For purposes of comparison, there were 57 traffic fatalities Thursday, Nov. 17. On the first observance of S-D Day, Dec. 15, 1954, there were 51.

Grange Says Policy Making Farmer Second Class Citizen

CLEVELAND (AP)—The National Grange, America's largest farm organization, charges that an Eisenhower administration policy is making "second class citizens" out of U. S. farmers.

The Grange said that while a farm emergency exists at home, the government is blocking competitive sale of surplus crops overseas by encouraging old customers to raise their own farm products.

Such government practices are making "second-class citizens" out of the little and middle-sized American farmers, whose income has dropped to prewar levels, it was stated in a report adopted last night by delegates to the National Grange convention.

The Grange has a membership of 850,000 in 37 states. Its 89th annual convention closes today.

"American agriculture is in a state of emergency," the report said. It added:

'Neither 90 per cent, nor 75 per cent, nor 60 per cent price support levels provide any assurance against the buildup of surplus stocks of major export crops as long as government policies block the competitive sale of those crops on the world market.

'As one branch of the government is sponsoring lower price supports and advocating curtailment of production, another branch of the government is restricting foreign sales and endorsing huge expenditures to expand the agricultural output of foreign nations that once were our customers. Those foreign nations are now competing with us and underselling us."

Delegates were told that nine per cent of the nation's farmers produce 51 per cent of farm commodities that move commercially.

Some 1,500,000 farmers earn less than $1,000 a year, while on a somewhat higher scale are 3,300,000 family farmers.

The report said their incomes have been sliding down in order to foster agriculture in other countries, at the same time that the nation's wages, corporation earnings, retailing, processing, communications companies and other parts of the economy are experiencing record prosperity.

Congress and the administration were urged to provide for export sales at competitive prices to recoup a fair share of world markets, to establish stronger soil conservation measures, to set up commodity-by-commodity programs to match production with demands, and to adjust trade programs.

Other recommendations included selling surpluses abroad on an installment plan and swapping them for strategic raw materials, and building research programs to find markets for farm products.

Approved by the Grange were resolutions favoring social security for farms, expansion of federal highway programs, catastrophe insurance with government backing, a strong United Nations, uniform traffic laws in all states, and gradual reduction of armaments.

The Grange voted disapproval of any threat to abolish the Rural Electrification Administration and frowned on toll television, a federal sales tax, socialized medicine, the serving of liquor on airplanes, daylight savings time and peacetime military training.

Red Iron Hand Rules Even In Embassy Yard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia's effort to prevent its people from reading Western publications has reached into the flower garden of the U. S. Embassy at Prague.

Long before the Communists came, the people of Prague enjoyed taking Sunday walks. Traditionally, all the embassies which lie in the shadow of the presidential palace have thrown open their gates to the strolling public.

This fall, the American Embassy set up a small table in its courtyard. On the table were spread back issues of U.S. magazines which the embassy staff had received from home. These publications included fashion magazines and some news magazines.

Czechs leafed through them and by the end of the first day all the magazines had disappeared. In time, the embassy was doing a land office business in back-issue magazines.

Soon the Communist regime, which forbids all Western literature to its people, got wind of what was happening.

On Nov. 11 the Czech Foreign Office called in Harold C. Vedeler, in charge of the embassy.

Vedeler was told the display of U.S. magazines within ready reach of Czech citizens was "unwelcome." He argued the magazines were not propaganda but simply reflected American culture.

Nevertheless, the table no longer sits in the courtyard on Sundays.

Advisers To Dems Condemn Ike Farm Plan As 'Failure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic advisory committee has unanimously condemned the Eisenhower administration's flexible farm price support system as "an absolute failure."

Reporting yesterday to the Democratic National Committee, the special group said the administration program "truly has been painful to both farmers and consumers."

It said "farmers have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy" while "consumer costs continued to an all-time high."

The committee, which included former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan, concluded:

"We recommend that the Democratic party reaffirm its stand in favor of full parity with supports at not less than 90 per cent."

Parity is a standard said by law to give farmers a fair return for what they sell in relation to their cost of operation.

THE REPORT contended the administration program is "liquidating the traditional American pattern of family farming." And it said President Eisenhower has "made clear" that this program will be "pursued relentlessly and without significant modification."

The committee urged that 90 per cent supports be coupled with "such new and existing tools as will assure a sound and effective national food, fiber and conservation program, equitable to both consumers and producers."

Recommendations included "sympathetic aid" from the government for rural electrification and other cooperatives, expansion of programs for domestic food distribution, increased exports and lower interest rates on all types of farm loans.

'Separate-But-Equal' Facilities Ruled To Be 'Unreasonable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an end to racial segregation on interstate trains and passenger buses. It ruled too that segregation of travelers in public waiting rooms is unlawful.

The commission, in years past has gone along with the theory that separate accommodations for the races met the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act, so long as they are equal.

But it said in today's ruling:

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race must be regarded under present conditions as unreasonable.

"Also, he is entitled to be free of annoyances, some petty and some substantial, which almost inevitably accompany segregation even though the rail carriers, as most of the defendants have done here, sincerely try to provide both races with equally convenient and comfortable cars and waiting rooms."

* * *

THE ICC TOOK note that the Supreme Court decided in its historic public school ruling of May 1954, that "the policy of separating the races is usually interpreted as noting the inferiority of the Negro group."

The commission recalled that race discrimination complaints have been coming before it since its organization in 1887.

Through the years, the ICC sanctioned "separate - but-equal" accommodations in the transportation field.

About 10 years ago, it gave its approval to an arrangement worked out by the Southern Railway for serving Negroes in its diners behind a curtain.

The Supreme Court in 1950 condemned this, striking down segregation in railroad dining cars. Under orders from the court, the ICC issued the appropriate orders relating to diners.

Desegregation orders were entered against a group of other railroads and the Carolina Coach Co. They require compliance on or before Jan. 10, 1956. The orders were entered against:

School Finance Study Slated To Be Delayed

COLUMBUS (AP) — State Sen. Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain), said today a legislative study committee probably will wait until after the General Assembly's January session to begin an examination of school finances.

Mosher heads a study committee created by the Ohio Legislative Service Commission to carry out a request of the last Legislature.

At the last session, the House adopted a resolution by Rep. Kenneth L. Beckwith (R-Morgan) calling on the commission to look into the question of equalizing schools funds and taxes within counties.

School districts now keep for their own use the local taxes and state subsidies they receive. Some districts with large industrial plants thus have far bigger incomes than predominantly agricultural districts in the same county.

Poorer districts have suggested that the well-fixed areas share.

Mosher said he wanted to wait until after the Jan. 16 session to see if any school matters arise.

A change in the state constitution approved by voters in the Nov. 8 election requires the session. The change authorizes a $150 million bond issue for public buildings, including schools in distressed districts.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche said he favored the idea of more equitable distribution of school funds to districts within counties, especially where large new utility plants in rural areas provided large revenues only for their district.

After 32 Years, His Maiden Speech

LONDON (AP)—The Marquis of Cholmondeley made his first speech in the House of Lords yesterday after 32 years in the British Parliament's august upper house.

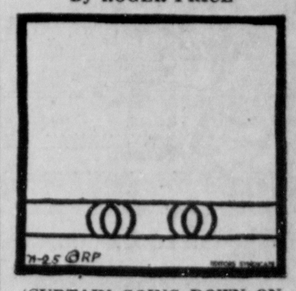

"At long last," he told his fellow peers, "I have been brought to my feet by the wish to do something about rabbits." He said:

"I know a neighbor who will not try to catch his rabbits and the only way to deal with him is by drastic legislation."

Rabbits do great damage to crops in Britain and the subject of how to control them is debated constantly in Parliament.

'CURTAIN GOING DOWN ON COWBOY ACT"

Think it's easy to be a Cowboy today? No sir! Ever stop to think of all the stuff a Cowboy's gotta carry while he's ridin' the range? First, there's his Basic Equipment: Lassoe, six-shooter, guitar, tuning fork and 3 or 4 packages of bicarbonate (a Chuck Wagon isn't the Stork Club you know). Then there's his 10-gallon hat and his boots with sharp pointy toes (used for digging in, balancing and setting election bets). And of course he has to carry tobacco and paper so he can roll his own cigarettes and a can of rubber cement so he can glue the filter tips on. Believe me the Cowboy deserves to be a National Hero because he's put the West where it is today and you know where the West is. It's about halfway between St. Louis and Louella Parsons, that's where.

road; Atlantic Coast Line Railroad; Seaboard Air Line Railroad; Southern Railway; Illinois Central Railroad; Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad; Kansas City Southern Railway; Missouri Pacific Railroad; Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway; Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad; Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway, and the Richmond Terminal Railway Co.

The ICC returned its findings in two separate cases. One was initiated by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People against the 13 railroads.

The other case was brought before the commission by Sarah Keys, New York city beautician. She charged that while serving as a WAC in 1952, she was refused further transportation by the Carolina Coach Co. of Raleigh, N. C., when she refused a driver's demand that she move to the back of the bus.

In Atlanta, the head of Georgia's legal department pledged himself to continue to seek enforcement of racial segregation on trains and buses operating within the state in the face of the new interstate ban.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, however, conceded that state enforcement would be beset with technical legal difficulties, such as determining where intrastate transportation left off and interstate began.

The U. S Supreme Court already has ruled against school segregation but has allowed time to work out attendant problems and details on a local level. Georgia is resisting the decree to the extent of proposing to abandon the public school system in favor of private schools to preserve segregation.

Sales Tax Data Continues On Yuletide Climb

Latest reports on Ohio's sales tax receipts continue to trace the course of the traditional Christmas buying season.

In Pickaway County and across the rest of the state, there was new evidence that the Yuletide spending spree is already well under way.

Statewide, in the sales tax receipts for the week ended November 12, another big increase was registered over the corresponding week of last year. The gain in favor of the 1955 weekly collections was 20.23 percent—or $626,310.

By the same comparison, Pickaway County's figures remained with the statewide picture of booming business.

* * *

IN THIS district during the week ended November 12, sales tax receipts totaled $6,563.37. Last year, for the corresponding week, they amounted to $5,756.01.

It has frequently been pointed out that the weekly check on sales tax revenue should be a reliable measure of current business volume.

Baldridge Set For Appeal To Reduce Bond

An appeal to lower the bond of George Baldridge, accused of fatally wounding Fayette County Game Protector Irvin Patrick, was scheduled late today before Common Pleas Judge John P. Case at Washington C. H.

Municipal Judge Max Dice set the bond at $100,000, one of the highest ever recorded there, at the preliminary hearing. Patrick, a native Pickaway Countian, was fatally shot after arresting a hunter on Baldridge's farm.

Baldridge pleaded innocent to the official charge of second degree murder lodged by Patrick's widow. He claimed a shotgun he was holding went off accidentally while he and Patrick tussled.

Baldridge reportedly told Patrick that the game protector had no right to arrest the hunter, who had two hen pheasants illegally in his possession, because he was "a guest of mine."

Donald Seaman, a son-in-law of Baldridge, was fined $200 and costs by Judge Dice for illegal possession of the game birds.

The ICC returned its findings in two separate cases. One was initiated by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People against the 13 railroads.

The other case was brought before the commission by Sarah Keys, New York city beautician. She charged that while serving as a WAC in 1952, she was refused further transportation by the Carolina Coach Co. of Raleigh, N. C., when she refused a driver's demand that she move to the back of the bus.

In Atlanta, the head of Georgia's legal department pledged himself to continue to seek enforcement of racial segregation on trains and buses operating within the state in the face of the new interstate ban.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, however, conceded that state enforcement would be beset with technical legal difficulties, such as determining where intrastate transportation left off and interstate began.

The U. S Supreme Court already has ruled against school segregation but has allowed time to work out attendant problems and details on a local level. Georgia is resisting the decree to the extent of proposing to abandon the public school system in favor of private schools to preserve segregation.

Sales Tax Data Continues On Yuletide Climb

Latest reports on Ohio's sales tax receipts continue to trace the course of the traditional Christmas buying season.

In Pickaway County and across the rest of the state, there was new evidence that the Yuletide spending spree is already well under way.

Statewide, in the sales tax receipts for the week ended November 12, another big increase was registered over the corresponding week of last year. The gain in favor of the 1955 weekly collections was 20.23 percent—or $626,310.

By the same comparison, Pickaway County's figures remained with the statewide picture of booming business.

* * *

IN THIS district during the week ended November 12, sales tax receipts totaled $6,563.37. Last year, for the corresponding week, they amounted to $5,756.01.

It has frequently been pointed out that the weekly check on sales tax revenue should be a reliable measure of current business volume.

Baldridge Set For Appeal To Reduce Bond

An appeal to lower the bond of George Baldridge, accused of fatally wounding Fayette County Game Protector Irvin Patrick, was scheduled late today before Common Pleas Judge John P. Case at Washington C. H.

Municipal Judge Max Dice set the bond at $100,000, one of the highest ever recorded there, at the preliminary hearing. Patrick, a native Pickaway Countian, was fatally shot after arresting a hunter on Baldridge's farm.

Baldridge pleaded innocent to the official charge of second degree murder lodged by Patrick's widow. He claimed a shotgun he was holding went off accidentally while he and Patrick tussled.

Baldridge reportedly told Patrick that the game protector had no right to arrest the hunter, who had two hen pheasants illegally in his possession, because he was "a guest of mine."

Donald Seaman, a son-in-law of Baldridge, was fined $200 and costs by Judge Dice for illegal possession of the game birds.

Fall Health Report

The Pickaway County Board of Health has reported its school program activities to date this Fall. This includes: inspection of pupils, testing of wells and administering of polio and diphtheria shots.

Day Of Tragedy

COLUMBUS (AP) — Thanksgiving was a day of tragedy for some Ohioans. A tabulation of traffic fatalities from 6 a. m. Wednesday to last midnight showed nine persons died on Ohio highways.

Jaycees Ask Aid In Picking Man Of Year

Circleville Jaycees today invited the public to help the organization select the Outstanding Young Man for 1955.

The annual honor carries with it a Distinguished Service Award, given in tribute for community service and high personal characteristics. Nominations, invited from the public, are being handled by a screening committee appointed by the Jaycees.

Nominations should be mailed to the Citizens Committee of the Circleville Jaycees, in care of general delivery at the postoffice here.

To be eligible for the award, the nominee should be between the ages of 21-36, male, and a resident of Pickaway County.

* * *

IN SELECTING a candidate, citizens should give his name, approximate age, address and his business or profession. Letters need not be signed by the entrant but must be in to the committee by Jan. 7, 1956.

The Jaycees advise using the following criteria in selecting a candidate:

Contribution to community welfare; participation in all-around community activities; lasting contribution to community; exhibitions of leadership ability; personal or business progress; cooperation with individuals and civic organizations; and personal character and ability.

Oldtimers Dept.

Your political memory will be rated first class if you can look at the list of primary candidates below and tell the party and the date they ran for office (without peeking, of course, at the answer buried deeper down the column). The list:

For Pickaway County representative—Walter J. Marion and John L. May.

Fro sheriff — William B. Cady, Howard S. Irwin, Albertus W. Davison, J. Cleve Rader, Wilson L. Henn.

For county auditor — Bryce Briggs, George R. Whitehurst.

For prosecutor—E. A. Brown.

For treasurer—M. B. Trout.

For clerk of courts—Clifford M. White.

For recorder—Mary G. Morris.

For coroner—O. H. Dunton.

(Sure, you probably recognize the party easy enough. But think twice before you put down your money on the year!)

* * *

Glorious Cause

A lot of television viewers in Pickaway County drew weary hope from the news that some fellow wants to organize a nationwide survey on how much they're giving to the commercial yak-yak these days, and how often the law is violated thereby.

Federal checker-uppers have explained they just don't have a big enough staff to hold a stop-watch on all the channels and all the programs across the nation. And meanwhile, the long winded trade talks—in which everything from potato slicers to convertibles are described as the greatest-ever-put-on-the-market — continue to eat into the program time.

Maybe a few individual complaints, direct to Washington, will help—before things get much worse.

* * *

Under-Table Tactics

When the dogs suddenly began to battle under the dining room table during the evening meal a few nights ago, the Circleville housewife admits she "just did the first thing I could think of."

She was holding the coffee pot when the brawl broke out, so she tipped off the lid and let 'em have it—under the table!

The dogs were startled into immediate silence, and the head of the house—who happened to be sitting directly across the way — slammed down his knife and fork and stood up, real quick-like. He too was surprised.

The wife's fit of sobbing glee lasted for about 15 minutes, but she did take time to gasp:

"Take off your pants and send them to the cleaners, and stop getting excited. I had to act fast, didn't I?"

WILL IKE BACK NIXON?

Only Once Did a President Support His Veep Successfully for Highest Job

President Andrew Jackson — President Martin Van Buren

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Will President Eisenhower do for Vice President Nixon what President Jackson did for Vice President Van Buren? Only once in American history has a vice president succeeded directly to the White House via the ballot box.

In 1836, President Andrew Jackson handpicked Vice President Martin Van Buren as his successor and Van Buren was elected.

Will Eisenhower do the same for Nixon and, if so, can he make it stick? Vice President Richard M. Nixon must break this 119-year-old precedent if he is to receive the Republican presidential nomination, assuming that Mr. Eisenhower, because of his illness, does not run for re-election.

Seven vice presidents have succeeded to the presidency upon the death of the duly-elected incumbent. Three of them—Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Harry Truman—all in this century, were elected to second terms.

The position of vice president has always been clouded with uncertainties, largely because the Constitution is not too explicit. It merely states that he shall preside over the Senate and assume the "powers and duties" of the President in case of his death, resignation, removal or disability.

* * *

THE CONSTITUTION does not state, in so many words, that he shall become the President of the United States. John Tyler was the first to put the Constitution to the test. When William Henry Harrison died on April 4, 1841, exactly one month after he was inaugurated as the nation's ninth President, Vice President Tyler succeeded him.

However, he did so only over the vociferous objections of some very influential people. John Quincy Adams, a former President, and Henry Clay, a would-be President, called him a usurper. Adams took the position that Tyler had no right to occupy the White House or receive the President's salary. Clay suggested that Tyler be made a regent.

The controversy resulted in a motion being introduced in the House of Representatives to rebuke Tyler and designate him as Acting President. After a sharp debate, the motion was voted down.

There have been numerous authorities who have maintained that the men who wrote the Constitution never intended that a vice president should become President, but that he should merely exercise the duties of the office.

Alexander Hamilton took this position. During the Constitutional Convention the argument was made that there was no need for a vice president, that such an officer would be superfluous.

* * *

HAMILTON, arguing against this, declared that the vice president "may occasionally become a substitute for the President." Hamilton did not say the vice president would actually become President.

If Eisenhower does not seek a second term, he will become the third President of this century to serve only four years. The others were William Howard Taft and Herbert Hoover.

James Garfield, who was shot, and Woodrow Wilson, who suffered a stroke, were ill for many months. However, their vice presidents did not take over during their period of incapacitation. Chester A. Arthur became President only upon the death of Garfield, and Thomas R. Marshall never took over the duties of Wilson, who finished out his term and died after he left office.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Conference on Education, opening a four-day meeting here Monday, may find some answers to the school problem — but.

There is skepticism that the 1,800 men and women — teachers, labor, farm and civic leaders, businessmen and professional people—coming from 48 states and the territories with divergent views can reach agreements.

The conference already is being called a game of musical chairs because of unusual seating arrangements and procedures which will not permit wide-open debate or voting.

The delegates will have to transact their business through discussion in small groups. They will be seated at 180 tables, 10 to a table. ground of this conference, and what it faces, here are the six questions which will be discussed:

(1) What should our schools accomplish? (2) In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically? (3) What are our school building needs? (4) How can we get enough good teachers—and keep them? (5) How can we finance our schools—build and operate them? (6) How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?

President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message Jan. 7, 1954, proposed a national conference on education. Since preparation was needed, he wrote the governors and executives of the territories and possessions, suggesting this:

That they call conferences of people from various walks of life—teachers, labor people, civic leaders, and so on—to talk over what they thought should be done.

Meanwhile, Eisenhower appointed a 34-man committee of his own—also from various groups—headed by Neil H. McElroy, president of the Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati.

All the states and territories had conferences. The president's committee met a number of times. Congress voted $900,000 to pay the over-all expenses. Now the delegates have come here for the big meeting.

This is how the conference will work:

Each table of 10 picks a chairman, then discusses the six questions one at a time, starting with No. 1.

Each chairman draws up a report on what he thinks was the majority view at his table on question No. 1. Then these 180 chairmen move to 18 tables, 10 to a table, pick a chairman, and discuss problem No. 1.

Then each of these 18 chairmen draws up a report on what he thinks was the majority view at his table. Next the 18 chairmen move to two tables, nine to a table. Each table picks a chairman and discusses problem No. 1.

The two remaining chairmen get together and draw up a report on what they think was the majority view at their two tables. And they make their report to all 1,800 conferees.

Then the whole thing starts over again on question No. 2. And so on until all majority views on all six questions have been reported to the conference. These six reports from the conference are to go to the President's 34-man committee.

Sometime in January, perhaps, this committee will make recommendations to the President.

Then it's up to Eisenhower to make recommendations, if any, to Congress.

Ohio's Narcotics Regulation Studied

CLEVELAND (AP)—Senate investigators came here today for a look at how Ohio's new narcotics law is working out.

U. S. Senator Price Daniel (D-Tex), chairman of the subcommittee, said bigtime dope racketeers began moving out of Ohio on Sept. 16, when the state's new, tough laws went into effect.

The new laws provide a 20-years-to-life penalty for a first conviction. They are much sterner than federal laws, which call for a 2-5 year term for first offenders.

Back-To-Work Movement 'False'

COLUMBUS (AP) — Mel Harter, vice-president of Local 746, IUE-CIO, says the reported back-to-work movement at the strike-bound Columbus Westinghouse plant is "just propaganda."

He said a few striking employes started the back-to-work talk in an effort to get others to follow.

"They won't succeed," Harter said. "A newspaper here reported about 200 workers were planning to return to their jobs Monday."

WASHINGTON—Will President Eisenhower do for Vice President Nixon what President Jackson did for Vice President Van Buren? Only once in American history has a vice president succeeded directly to the White House via the ballot box.

In 1836, President Andrew Jackson handpicked Vice President Martin Van Buren as his successor and Van Buren was elected.

Will Eisenhower do the same for Nixon and, if so, can he make it stick? Vice President Richard M. Nixon must break this 119-year-old precedent if he is to receive the Republican presidential nomination, assuming that Mr. Eisenhower, because of his illness, does not run for re-election.

AUTO WONDERLAND

Cleveland Parts Maker Owns Museum Of Ancient Cars of U. S., Foreign Makes

Part of the Cleveland auto museum. Even the store front and toy auto are authentic for the period.

By LEE HANCOCK
Central Press Association Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O.—People who love automobiles—and who in America doesn't?—have a treat in store for them the next time they visit this city.

Within 10 minutes of Public Square, heart of Cleveland, is a unique museum which preserves for the appreciative eyes of posterity the early efforts of motordom and aviation. There some 160 perfectly restored old cars stand in shining splendor, along with six of the earliest airplanes and a fascinating bunch of rare old bicycles.

The airplanes and the bicycles have their fans, of course, but it is the ancient automobiles which fascinate most visitors.

Take that 1897 Panhard coupe, for example. The oldest closed car on the North American continent, it was built in Paris, France, in 1897. The Panhard, with a two-cylinder engine and hot tube ignition, carries a footman's folding seat in the rear.

The method of starting a Panhard has been graphically described this way: You turned on the gasoline tap, flooded the whole of the engine with gas, turned the tap off, lit a match, dropped it inside the hood of the motor, and then ran away. Obviously, operating a Panhard was not for sissies.

The museum's 1908 Stanley Steamer, a 20-horsepower touring model, gleaming with brass headlights, runs as well as it did 47 years ago, could probably out-accelerate and whiz past most cars on the road today. Back in 1906 a Stanley Steamer hung up a scorching record of 197 miles an hour!

* * *

THEN THERE'S that huge, powerful 1913 Austro Daimler, its four-cylinder engine, overhead valves, and 126-inch wheelbase designed to shine in road racing competition across the Alps. The Austro Daimler has a proud history and looks impressive enough even today to make you secretly wish you had one in your garage.

The 1902 Curved Dash Olds, the first production car in America, and the 1905 Duryea, take you back to the days when the purchase price of a car did not include headlights, horns, tops, windshields, speedometers or bumpers. When you bought a car those days it was strictly cash on the line, no installment buying. In case you've forgotten, the first set of 16-ply tires made for automobile use in the U. S. by an Akron rubber firm cost $400!

The Thompson Products Auto Album and Aviation museum originated in the brain of Fred Crawford, chairman of the board of the Thompson Products company, manufacturer of auto and airplane parts.

* * *

TO RESTORE the cars the museum maintains what is undoubtedly one of the most unusual garages in the country. In plain view where you can see the work being done, is an auto repair shop manned by three old-time mechanics who know their stuff. It is not unusual for them to have to machine parts by hand for the cars they are restoring.

The museum puts its guests in the proper mood by the device of its stretch of showrooms, which comprise the part of the building known as "Thompsonville, 1898."

Its inhabitants, a dozen wax figures, are mostly on the youthful side, gay young blades driving shiny 1898 automobiles, pretty girls dressed up in the latest (Gay Nineties, that is) motoring fashions, complete with linen dusters and firmly-pinned veils.

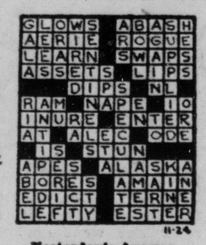

Easiest car to pick up for the museum, according to Ruth Franklin, the curator, is the Model T Ford. Henry Ford flooded the country with some 15 million of them, and there are Model Ts still running. Hardest to find, and guaranteed to make any car collector drool, is the Stutz Bearcat!

Nobody can guess how much the automobiles in the Thompson museum for antique cars are really worth. You don't place a value on irreplaceable museum pieces.

Boy, 9, Saves 6 In One Fire

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP)—Police today credited a 9-year-old boy with saving the lives of six of his brothers and sisters Thursday night in a fire in their home.

Police Lt. Ezell Irons of Chicago Heights, a Chicago suburb, said Ike Bradley Jr. raced into the burning house several times to carry or lead the children, ranging in age from 2 months to 8 years, to safety. A baby sister, Denise, 15 months, died in the blaze. The family is Negro.

The youngsters' parents were away from home at the time.

CINCINNATI (AP)—A gun fight as a result of a dispute over a family reunion brought death last night to Norman King, 55, a butcher.

Fred Bobbs, 42, King's brother-in-law, who was quoted by Lt. Charles Martin, as saying "I closed my eyes and fired," was wounded in both legs.

Martins said he was told the fight started after Bobbs became angered because he had been "left out" of a family reunion dinner. Martin said Bobbs told him King fired three shots at him and then attacked him with a knife.

Ag Agency Hikes Interest Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department says it is increasing the interest rate one-fourth of 1 per cent a year on private funds used to help finance the government's multi-billion - dollar farm price support program.

The increase, effective Dec. 1, will boost the annual rate to 2½ per cent. The rate charged farmers for such loans will remain at 3½ per cent. The government will absorb the rate increase.

The department said it was making the increases to encourage private lending agencies to retain their investments in price support loans and thus relieve the federal Treasury as much as possible of the burden of providing funds.

AUTO WONDERLAND

Cleveland Parts Maker Owns Museum Of Ancient Cars of U. S., Foreign Makes

Part of the Cleveland auto museum. Even the store front and toy auto are authentic for the period.

By LEE HANCOCK
Central Press Association Correspondent

CLEVELAND, O.—People who love automobiles—and who in America doesn't?—have a treat in store for them the next time they visit this city.

Within 10 minutes of Public Square, heart of Cleveland, is a unique museum which preserves for the appreciative eyes of posterity the early efforts of motordom and aviation. There some 160 perfectly restored old cars stand in shining splendor, along with six of the earliest airplanes and a fascinating bunch of rare old bicycles.

The airplanes and the bicycles have their fans, of course, but it is the ancient automobiles which fascinate most visitors.

Take that 1897 Panhard coupe, for example. The oldest closed car on the North American continent, it was built in Paris, France, in 1897. The Panhard, with a two-cylinder engine and hot tube ignition, carries a footman's folding seat in the rear.

The method of starting a Panhard has been graphically described this way: You turned on the gasoline tap, flooded the whole of the engine with gas, turned the tap off, lit a match, dropped it inside the hood of the motor, and then ran away. Obviously, operating a Panhard was not for sissies.

The museum's 1908 Stanley Steamer, a 20-horsepower touring model, gleaming with brass headlights, runs as well as it did 47 years ago, could probably out-accelerate and whiz past most cars on the road today. Back in 1906 a Stanley Steamer hung up a scorching record of 197 miles an hour!

* * *

THEN THERE'S that huge, powerful 1913 Austro Daimler, its four-cylinder engine, overhead valves, and 126-inch wheelbase designed to shine in road racing competition across the Alps. The Austro Daimler has a proud history and looks impressive enough even today to make you secretly wish you had one in your garage.

The 1902 Curved Dash Olds, the first production car in America, and the 1905 Duryea, take you back to the days when the purchase price of a car did not include headlights, horns, tops, windshields, speedometers or bumpers. When you bought a car those days it was strictly cash on the line, no installment buying. In case you've forgotten, the first set of 16-ply tires made for automobile use in the U. S. by an Akron rubber firm cost $400!

The Thompson Products Auto Album and Aviation museum originated in the brain of Fred Crawford, chairman of the board of the Thompson Products company, manufacturer of auto and airplane parts.

* * *

TO RESTORE the cars the museum maintains what is undoubtedly one of the most unusual garages in the country. In plain view where you can see the work being done, is an auto repair shop manned by three old-time mechanics who know their stuff. It is not unusual for them to have to machine parts by hand for the cars they are restoring.

The museum puts its guests in the proper mood by the device of its stretch of showrooms, which comprise the part of the building known as "Thompsonville, 1898."

Its inhabitants, a dozen wax figures, are mostly on the youthful side, gay young blades driving shiny 1898 automobiles, pretty girls dressed up in the latest (Gay Nineties, that is) motoring fashions, complete with linen dusters and firmly-pinned veils.

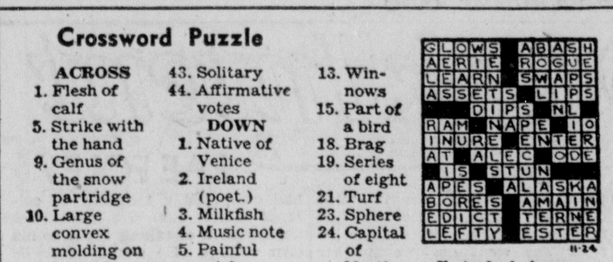

Easiest car to pick up for the museum, according to Ruth Franklin, the curator, is the Model T Ford. Henry Ford flooded the country with some 15 million of them, and there are Model Ts still running. Hardest to find, and guaranteed to make any car collector drool, is the Stutz Bearcat!

Nobody can guess how much the automobiles in the Thompson museum for antique cars are really worth. You don't place a value on irreplaceable museum pieces.

PUTTING U. S. ON FILE

A SCIENTIST Dr. Marshall T. Newman, has proposed a national identification file covering all Americans. This would include fingerprints, dental records, blood-group designations, stature and weight data, any identifying marks, scars and fractures.

Dr. Marshall's contention is that this would be of great value for civil defense purposes and also would simplify identication procedures in such cases as air crashes.

Every ex-serviceman can be sure his fingerprints and a complete file on every little detail of his life are located somewhere in Washington. Also, the FBI has extensive files on other citizens.

But the idea of compulsory fingerprinting and filing of identification data is repugnant to the American concept of freedom. The next step might be to require everyone to carry identification cards as is the case in Europe.

Visitors from Europe have repeatedly commented on freedom of movement in the U. S.—no need to show passes to travel, etc. Put any limit on movement by the free-wheeling American public and there will be trouble!

THE LAST WORD

WALTER REUTHER and his organization, jubilant over the quick agreement of the largest motor manufacturers on the guaranteed annual wage question, probably thought that the legal aspects, submitted to Ohio voters, would have easy sailing. He probably believed that management was the only serious roadblock.

He was amazed to learn that the voters, even in the big industrial cities, turned down the proposition by a vote of almost two to one.

This indicates that the average citizen, even including a large section of organized labor itself, is skeptical over the wisdom of GAW. When industry gives in to the Reuther demands, the general public has an uneasy feeling that the ultimate consumer is the man who pays and pays and pays.

In most cases big industry just passes the burden along to that consumer, and he is getting weary.

STARK REALISM

RUSSIA'S unyielding stubbornness suggests certain factors which are gains for the West.

There can no longer be any doubt that Moscow is determined to continue the long grind of the cold war. As a result, no longer is the spirit of neutralism, fueled by Russian smiles, flaming in West Europe. The Soviet Union did not condescend to yield on a few minor points at Geneva to keep peoples of free countries hoping for an ultimate solution.

As the Russians sabotaged the conference, they also destroyed one of their chief objectives, which was to divide the West.

Russia obviously wants no agreement but only the creation of troublesome situations from which it may profit. That fact can now be doubted by none. The West can make future plans and enter into other negotiations on the basis of that rock-bottom factor.

If it did nothing else, Geneva provided release from an illusion.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

After Thomas E. Murray's speech recommending that all the nations be invited to attend a blowing up of a hydrogen bomb so that, to put it simply, the hell might be scared out of them by the very horror of it, Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said:

"The proposal has a lot of merit. I believe that such a 'spectacle' before world leaders would help, because people get an impression from witnessing such enormous explosions that they never can get from just reading about them."

In a word, he endorsed Murray's proposal. Subsequently the other Commissioners of the Atomic Energy Commission jumped all over Murray for talking out of turn. They said that this idea had been discussed and turned down.

Discussed and considered by whom? Turned down by whom? Surely this is fundamentally a question for the American people and the Congress. However that may be, Murray had his say; Quarles endorsed what Murray said. Then the other Commissioners had their say, and then this is reported:

"The Air Force later said Quarles was unaware that the Murray plan had been rejected by the AEC. A spokesman said Quarles was expressing his personal views, but probably would have declined to do so if he had known that the Commission had taken an official position."

What kind of brain-washing is this? Mr. Quarles is a distinguished man, knowledgeable in the science of atomic fission and fusion. He has experience in the entire field. What press agent in the Pentagon possessed the authority to make him look ridiculous by telling reporters that Quarles does not know what he is talking about? Of course, Quarles was expressing "his personal views."

Whose else's view should he have expressed? Has the day come in the United States when a man may not express "his personal views," no matter how expert he may be in his field because a government press agent acts as a political commissar in his office?

The Hennings Committee ought to investigate the role that the government press agent plays, as a political commissar, in suppressing the news that should go to the American people. After all, this is our country; all the money that the Government spends is our money; if we are led to war, it is our sons who are maimed and killed. Since when have we shifted in this country from the concept that public officials are sergeants of the people to the reality that temporary officials and their appointees are our masters?

Of this you can be certain: You and I do not know much about the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb. Unless we are experts in the field, we can hardly understand what it is all about. But we have been told that these bombs can destroy the world.

Now along comes Thomas E. Murray, a trained and successful engineer, a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, who says that radioactive strontium, once it is shot into the atmosphere moves along for years and comes down not only on the target but everywhere, upon the shooter as well as those shot upon. This is what Murray said on this subject:

"Before these 1954 tests took place a policy of almost utter silence had been established. The decision was made to use only two statements — first an announcement that tests were to be held, and then a short guarded statement at their conclusion. However, the inscrutable Providence of God, our Father, decided otherwise. Radioactive dust settled on the Fortunate Dragon, some 90 miles downwind. You remember the results.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

SHANDY admitted Mrs. Thomas, who had flung a polo coat over a cotton nightdress and tied a scarf over her hair whose lumps indicated pin curls beneath.

"Where's Doc?" she demanded.

"Upstairs," Shandy said. "He's all right, Mrs. Thomas. "I'll take you up."

For a long moment she looked at Carol in the blue satin negligee, then she turned and went up the stairs without a word, moving Shandy, thought, like nemesis.

Unexpectedly Carol ran after her, caught her arm. "Helen, we'll do everything we can to make him comfortable, you know."

The doctor's wife shook off her hand. "You killed Roger," she said deliberately, "so you'd be free to get Doc. I'm not blind. I've watched you for months and I knew as well as you did that you could wrap the poor besotted fool around your finger. But he's my husband. Before I let you have him I'll tell everyone you killed Roger Brindle. I intended to wait, to let Doc come to his senses. Though I did think it my duty to inform Jane Brindle. I wrote to her that there was something mighty queer about Roger's death."

"So that's why she came," Carol cried. "Helen, you left that anonymous letter for me when you and Doc came to take me to the—services."

"I thought it might stop you from thinking you'd got away with it." Mrs. Thomas pushed Carol aside and went up to the room where Ethel stood waiting.

Carol came slowly down the stairs to Shandy. "What happened to Roger?" she demanded. "At first I thought it was suicide. And I couldn't bear to have anyone know. That he hadn't been happy with me, I mean. Of course, I knew it wasn't his heart. The place was full of gas. But when I knew he'd been killed I thought you did it."

"Revenge?" he asked her. "Jealousy? Desire for you? No, Carol. Neither you nor Roger mattered enough."

"Do you like Mrs. Fleming better?"

"I like her better. Carol. Do you have a black velvet dress?"

She blinked in astonishment. "What on earth are you talking about?"

"Have you?"

"I had a black velvet negiligee. Shandy, you're crazy. What on earth—"

"When did you wear it last?"

"I have no idea. Months ago, I suppose."

"What did you do with it?"

"It was getting shabby so I gave it to Bessie Kibbee. There was so much material I thought she could turn it into a dress or something." Carol looked at him, her mouth partly open. At last she said, "You didn't kill Roger. You didn't—like me enough." When he made no reply she went on, groping her way. "But someone killed him and tried to kill Mrs. Fleming and shot Doc tonight. And the Thomases both think I did it. Only I didn't, Shandy."

Her eyes seemed to grow bigger while he looked at them, bigger, almost sightless. And fear was growing in her face. "I don't know what to do," she said, her voice shaking. "Roger always told me what to do."

"But where is Bessie?" Shandy said suddenly. "The Kibbees must have heard that shot. Where are they?"

And he was afraid for Lois, alone in Roger's cottage. He left Carol and ran out into the darkness.

After the brilliantly lighted house the garden seemed very dark. In spite of his driving sense of haste, Shandy waited for a moment to let his eyes adjust to the night. And while he stood still he was aware of cautious movement. Sound is deceptive in the dark and he held his breath to help him listen, trying to determine the direction.

And then, on his left, someone moved. The intruder was unexpectedly, startlingly close, so close that Shandy heard clearly a sharp, gasping breath. A stone grated, rolled under a heel.

Step by step they advanced. The intruder would move a few feet and Shandy would follow. Forward and backward, side to side, they shuffled, along the paths, across the lawn, through the hedges. There was a curiously leisurely pace to this phantom pursuit. As though the thing Shandy followed had no objective at all, as though it moved just ahead of him as aimlessly as some disembodied ignis fatuus.

For what appeared to be endless time he played a kind of ghostly hide and seek. Then he put on a burst of speed, his fingers brushed a sleeve and then the intruder swerved, doubling back toward the big house, and at that moment Shandy knew who it was. No one else loomed so big. It was Clyde Kibbee whom he was chasing.

Shandy could feel the familiar constriction in his muscles which meant he could not run much farther. He stood still, heard the thud of running feet as Clyde attempted to circle around him, dived forward in a tackle and brought the other down in a heavy crash. The side of his open hand moved in a sharp chopping motion and Clyde lay still.

Shandy dragged the unconscious man along the path. There was no question of lifting him as his knees had developed a tendency to collapse under him. He abandoned his intention of taking Clyde to his own cottage. He would never be able to drag the big fellow that far.

Lois' cottage was nearest and as he approached he called so as not to frighten her. She flung open the door, her eyes widened and then she stood back and let him haul Clyde into the room.

"Got anything to tie him with?"

"Shandy! You've made a mistake!"

"Hurry," he panted. "You can argue later."

She ran to bring a ball of heavy twine from a drawer in Roger's work table and Shandy tied Clyde's wrists together behind him, tied his ankles, then bent over him as he sprawled on the floor, a giant of a man.

"Is he badly hurt?" Lois asked.

"He'll come around in a few minutes. Scratched up a bit because I had to drag him. Otherwise he's all right." Quickly he told her what had happened at the house, about the attack on Dr. Thomas and the pursuit through the garden. "Sorry I had to bring him here but it won't be for long. I'll call the police."

Because Lois was silent he turned to her. She was looking down at Clyde's face, young and defenseless, now that he was unconscious, oddly vulnerable.

"He looks so—lonely," she said. Shandy laughed shortly and reached for the telephone. "Wait! Don't call the police."

"We can't stand guard over the guy indefinitely," he pointed out.

Lois was absorbed in her own thoughts. "Call Jane Brindle."

"At this time of night? Why?"

Lois was still looking at Clyde. "Because she knows."

"Knows what?"

"What is going on here. Why it is going on. And she has been worried about Clyde."

"Someone ought to be," Shandy said grimly. "Roger killed, you nearly killed, Dr. Thomas shot—"

"No," Lois said. "Not Clyde. He—"

"He hated Roger," Shandy told her. "He blamed him because he had no home life and because he thought Roger stole his girl and because Albert Kibbee carried his hero worship so far he couldn't see his own son. And he was in the garden tonight after that attack on Doc."

"Can't you see he had no reason to harm Dr. Thomas? And he'd never have done anything to frighten Paula. He's been a decoy, Shandy. No, please let me call Jane."

Shandy capitulated. And Lois was right. There had been two people in the garden.

A New Invisible Cream Guards Workers' Hands

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HOUSEWIVES and industrial workers are reported using an invisible cream to protect themselves from skin irritants.

Not Greasy

Called Pro-Derna, the cream is not greasy, does not stain and is easy to apply. You can't see it when it's on your skin. It should be helpful to housewives who may develop skin inflammation from soaps and various cleaners.

It promises to be of even greater aid to workers in many plants who develop skin disturbances after prolonged contact with wool, flour, dusts, plastics, cleaners, dyes, acids and alkalis, to name a few.

As a matter of fact, industrial skin disorders are probably to blame for more than half of all occupational diseases.

It is usually impossible for many of you to avoid things which may irritate your skin. And it is not always practical to wear protective gloves.

Dr. Marvin N. Winer of Millard Fillmore Hospital, Buffalo, New York, suggests that Pro-Derna be used instead.

The cream contains 52.5 per cent silicone in a bentonite base. Silicone compounds are derived from regular sand. They are not sensitizing and not irritating.

May Increase Disorder

Writing in the New York Journal of Medicine, Dr. Winer warns against using the cream while the inflammation is present. It is apt to increase the disorder if used then.

But after the condition has cleared, he recommends that the cream be used when you return to work—if that is the source of your irritation.

Use Every Day

Adults should apply a thin film of cream on clean, dry skin before starting to work each day. Wipe off the excess. Before lunch, wash off the cream with a mild detergent. Then apply more cream before returning to work. After leaving work you can wash off all the cream.

If your children are troubled with contact dermatitis such as this, bathe them each day with a soapless skin cleanser. Then apply a thin film of the cream.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. B.: My mother has very ugly-looking large moles on her face and body which develop hard scab-like tops. Is there anything that can be done to help her?

Answer: Moles should be removed only by a skin specialist. Certain types of moles should be left alone.

A physician will determine whether or not removal is necessary in your mother's case.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist would never know if he didn't open his morning mail:

That American women are using less perfume now than they did eight years ago.

That, on the other hand, deodorant sales climbed 93 per cent between 1947 and 1953.

That acids in even the fairest skin are harmful to a pearl necklace. It should be sent to a jeweler once a year to be cleaned.

That during some fall and winter months as many as 15 million Americans may catch a cold in a single day.

That some 30 herbs are used in making a top-grade vermouth, including the flowers of 'wormwood," and such other fancy-named plants as sweet marjoram, angelica and blessed thistle.

That the National Dog Welfare Guild believes one way to keep your boy from running with a wolf-pack of juvenile delinquents is to give him a pooch to care for.

That while women still buy 55 to 60 per cent of all men's wear the percentage is dropping steadily. Papa is getting more interested in his clothing every year, insists on picking it out himself.

That despite modern safety and health measures a recent survey showed there are 334,000 blind persons in the United States, the highest number in our history.

That the human ear is faster than the human eye. Tests have shown the average person reacts more quickly to a signal he hears than one he sees.

That approximately 15 million Americans have some hearing impairment, and the leading cause of deafness is probably heriditary.

That when Emperor Hirohito ascended the Japanese throne in 1926 his reign was designated as "Showa," meaning "the era of radiant peace."

That if you're a man 20 years old you have better than a two-out-of three chance of living to five girls of 20 will hit the 65 mark.

That every 8.8 minutes in America some merchant is threatened with a blackjack, a knife, a gun or some other type weapon. This figure doesn't include lady customers demanding refunds at the point of an old-fashioned hatpin.

That some entertainers dip their hands in a bowl of ice cubes to halt nervous perspiration before starting a performance.

That Margaret Firth, author of "It's Fun to Reduce," says: "White is a fattening color—black makes you look thinner. Why do overweight women always wear white in the summer?"

That Conrad Nagel gives this as his definition of middle age: "When a toupee is man's best friend."

Try, Stop Me

It seems to me that many of our most-publicized "characters" spend about three-fourths of their time striving desperately to live up to the reputations their press agents create for them. I've often wondered how long they'd continue with their little peccadillos (sometimes so elaborate, so time-consuming!) if some carefully alerted gentlemen of the press weren't on deck to recrod every detail for posterity. I remember, for example, the evening the magnificently mustachioed Salvador Dali became so enraged at a Fifth Avenue department store's display based on his art that he smashed the plate-glass window and wrecked the interior with his cane. So spontaneous and uncalculated was his indignation, in fact, that the presence of reporters and a camera crew, who managed to get the story on to the front pages of the next morning's papers, could only have been a miraculous coincidence!

PUTTING U. S. ON FILE

A SCIENTIST Dr. Marshall T. Newman, has proposed a national identification file covering all Americans. This would include fingerprints, dental records, blood-group designations, stature and weight data, any identifying marks, scars and fractures.

Dr. Marshall's contention is that this would be of great value for civil defense purposes and also would simplify identication procedures in such cases as air crashes.

Every ex-serviceman can be sure his fingerprints and a complete file on every little detail of his life are located somewhere in Washington. Also, the FBI has extensive files on other citizens.

But the idea of compulsory fingerprinting and filing of identification data is repugnant to the American concept of freedom. The next step might be to require everyone to carry identification cards as is the case in Europe.

Visitors from Europe have repeatedly commented on freedom of movement in the U. S.—no need to show passes to travel, etc. Put any limit on movement by the free-wheeling American public and there will be trouble!

THE LAST WORD

WALTER REUTHER and his organization, jubilant over the quick agreement of the largest motor manufacturers on the guaranteed annual wage question, probably thought that the legal aspects, submitted to Ohio voters, would have easy sailing. He probably believed that management was the only serious roadblock.

He was amazed to learn that the voters, even in the big industrial cities, turned down the proposition by a vote of almost two to one.

This indicates that the average citizen, even including a large section of organized labor itself, is skeptical over the wisdom of GAW. When industry gives in to the Reuther demands, the general public has an uneasy feeling that the ultimate consumer is the man who pays and pays and pays.

In most cases big industry just passes the burden along to that consumer, and he is getting weary.

STARK REALISM

RUSSIA'S unyielding stubbornness suggests certain factors which are gains for the West.

There can no longer be any doubt that Moscow is determined to continue the long grind of the cold war. As a result, no longer is the spirit of neutralism, fueled by Russian smiles, flaming in West Europe. The Soviet Union did not condescend to yield on a few minor points at Geneva to keep peoples of free countries hoping for an ultimate solution.

As the Russians sabotaged the conference, they also destroyed one of their chief objectives, which was to divide the West.

Russia obviously wants no agreement but only the creation of troublesome situations from which it may profit. That fact can now be doubted by none. The West can make future plans and enter into other negotiations on the basis of that rock-bottom factor.

If it did nothing else, Geneva provided release from an illusion.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

After Thomas E. Murray's speech recommending that all the nations be invited to attend a blowing up of a hydrogen bomb so that, to put it simply, the hell might be scared out of them by the very horror of it, Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said:

"The proposal has a lot of merit. I believe that such a 'spectacle' before world leaders would help, because people get an impression from witnessing such enormous explosions that they never can get from just reading about them."

In a word, he endorsed Murray's proposal. Subsequently the other Commissioners of the Atomic Energy Commission jumped all over Murray for talking out of turn. They said that this idea had been discussed and turned down.

Discussed and considered by whom? Turned down by whom? Surely this is fundamentally a question for the American people and the Congress. However that may be, Murray had his say; Quarles endorsed what Murray said. Then the other Commissioners had their say, and then this is reported:

"The Air Force later said Quarles was unaware that the Murray plan had been rejected by the AEC. A spokesman said Quarles was expressing his personal views, but probably would have declined to do so if he had known that the Commission had taken an official position."

What kind of brain-washing is this? Mr. Quarles is a distinguished man, knowledgeable in the science of atomic fission and fusion. He has experience in the entire field. What press agent in the Pentagon possessed the authority to make him look ridiculous by telling reporters that Quarles does not know what he is talking about? Of course, Quarles was expressing "his personal views."

Whose else's view should he have expressed? Has the day come in the United States when a man may not express "his personal views," no matter how expert he may be in his field because a government press agent acts as a political commissar in his office?

The Hennings Committee ought to investigate the role that the government press agent plays, as a political commissar, in suppressing the news that should go to the American people. After all, this is our country; all the money that the Government spends is our money; if we are led to war, it is our sons who are maimed and killed. Since when have we shifted in this country from the concept that public officials are sergeants of the people to the reality that temporary officials and their appointees are our masters?

Of this you can be certain: You and I do not know much about the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb. Unless we are experts in the field, we can hardly understand what it is all about. But we have been told that these bombs can destroy the world.

Now along comes Thomas E. Murray, a trained and successful engineer, a Commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, who says that radioactive strontium, once it is shot into the atmosphere moves along for years and comes down not only on the target but everywhere, upon the shooter as well as those shot upon. This is what Murray said on this subject:

"Before these 1954 tests took place a policy of almost utter silence had been established. The decision was made to use only two statements — first an announcement that tests were to be held, and then a short guarded statement at their conclusion. However, the inscrutable Providence of God, our Father, decided otherwise. Radioactive dust settled on the Fortunate Dragon, some 90 miles downwind. You remember the results.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

SHANDY admitted Mrs. Thomas, who had flung a polo coat over a cotton nightdress and tied a scarf over her hair whose lumps indicated pin curls beneath.

"Where's Doc?" she demanded.

"Upstairs," Shandy said. "He's all right, Mrs. Thomas. "I'll take you up."

For a long moment she looked at Carol in the blue satin negligee, then she turned and went up the stairs without a word, moving Shandy, thought, like nemesis.

Unexpectedly Carol ran after her, caught her arm. "Helen, we'll do everything we can to make him comfortable, you know."

The doctor's wife shook off her hand. "You killed Roger," she said deliberately, "so you'd be free to get Doc. I'm not blind. I've watched you for months and I knew as well as you did that you could wrap the poor besotted fool around your finger. But he's my husband. Before I let you have him I'll tell everyone you killed Roger Brindle. I intended to wait, to let Doc come to his senses. Though I did think it my duty to inform Jane Brindle. I wrote to her that there was something mighty queer about Roger's death."

"So that's why she came," Carol cried. "Helen, you left that anonymous letter for me when you and Doc came to take me to the—services."

"I thought it might stop you from thinking you'd got away with it." Mrs. Thomas pushed Carol aside and went up to the room where Ethel stood waiting.

Carol came slowly down the stairs to Shandy. "What happened to Roger?" she demanded. "At first I thought it was suicide. And I couldn't bear to have anyone know. That he hadn't been happy with me, I mean. Of course, I knew it wasn't his heart. The place was full of gas. But when I knew he'd been killed I thought you did it."

"Revenge?" he asked her. "Jealousy? Desire for you? No, Carol. Neither you nor Roger mattered enough."

"Do you like Mrs. Fleming better?"

"I like her better. Carol. Do you have a black velvet dress?"

She blinked in astonishment. "What on earth are you talking about?"

"Have you?"

"I had a black velvet negligee. Shandy, you're crazy. What on earth—"

"When did you wear it last?"

"I have no idea. Months ago, I suppose."

"What did you do with it?"

"It was getting shabby so I gave it to Bessie Kibbee. There was so much material I thought she could turn it into a dress or something." Carol looked at him, her mouth partly open. At last she said, "You didn't kill Roger. You didn't—like me enough." When he made no reply she went on, groping her way. "But someone killed him and tried to kill Mrs. Fleming and shot Doc tonight. And the Thomases both think I did it. Only I didn't, Shandy."

Her eyes seemed to grow bigger while he looked at them, bigger, almost sightless. And fear was growing in her face. "I don't know what to do," she said, her voice shaking. "Roger always told me what to do."

"But where is Bessie?" Shandy said suddenly. "The Kibbees must have heard that shot. Where are they?"

And he was afraid for Lois, alone in Roger's cottage. He left Carol and ran out into the darkness.

After the brilliantly lighted house the garden seemed very dark. In spite of his driving sense of haste, Shandy waited for a moment to let his eyes adjust to the night. And while he stood still he was aware of cautious movement. Sound is deceptive in the dark and he held his breath to help him listen, trying to determine the direction.

And then, on his left, someone moved. The intruder was unexpectedly, startlingly close, so close that Shandy heard clearly a sharp, gasping breath. A stone grated, rolled under a heel.

Step by step they advanced. The intruder would move a few feet and Shandy would follow. Forward and backward, side to side, they shuffled, along the paths, across the lawn, through the hedges. There was a curiously leisurely pace to this phantom pursuit. As though the thing Shandy followed had no objective at all, as though it moved just ahead of him as aimlessly as some disembodied ignis fatuus.

For what appeared to be endless time he played a kind of ghostly hide and seek. Then he put on a burst of speed, his fingers brushed a sleeve and then the intruder swerved, doubling back toward the big house, and at that moment Shandy knew who it was. No one else loomed so big. It was Clyde Kibbee whom he was chasing.

Shandy could feel the familiar constriction in his muscles which meant he could not run much farther. He stood still, heard the thud of running feet as Clyde attempted to circle around him, dived forward in a tackle and brought the other down in a heavy crash. The side of his open hand moved in a sharp chopping motion and Clyde lay still.

Shandy dragged the unconscious man along the path. There was no question of lifting him as his knees had developed a tendency to collapse under him. He abandoned his intention of taking Clyde to his own cottage. He would never be able to drag the big fellow that far.

Lois' cottage was nearest and as he approached he called so as not to frighten her. She flung open the door, her eyes widened and then she stood back and let him haul Clyde into the room.

"Got anything to tie him with?"

"Shandy! You've made a mistake!"

"Hurry," he panted. "You can argue later."

She ran to bring a ball of heavy twine from a drawer in Roger's work table and Shandy tied Clyde's wrists together behind him, tied his ankles, then bent over him as he sprawled on the floor, a giant of a man.

"Is he badly hurt?" Lois asked.

"He'll come around in a few minutes. Scratched up a bit because I had to drag him. Otherwise he's all right." Quickly he told her what had happened at the house, about the attack on Dr. Thomas and the pursuit through the garden. "Sorry I had to bring him here but it won't be for long. I'll call the police."

Because Lois was silent he turned to her. She was looking down at Clyde's face, young and defenseless, now that he was unconscious, oddly vulnerable.

"He looks so—lonely," she said. Shandy laughed shortly and reached for the telephone. "Wait! Don't call the police."

"We can't stand guard over the guy indefinitely," he pointed out.

Lois was absorbed in her own thoughts. "Call Jane Brindle."

"At this time of night? Why?"

Lois was still looking at Clyde. "Because she knows."

"Knows what?"

"What is going on here. Why it is going on. And she has been worried about Clyde."

"Someone ought to be," Shandy said grimly. "Roger killed, you nearly killed, Dr. Thomas shot—"

"No," Lois said. "Not Clyde. He—"

"He hated Roger," Shandy told her. "He blamed him because he had no home life and because he thought Roger stole his girl and because Albert Kibbee carried his hero worship so far he couldn't see his own son. And he was in the garden tonight after that attack on Doc."

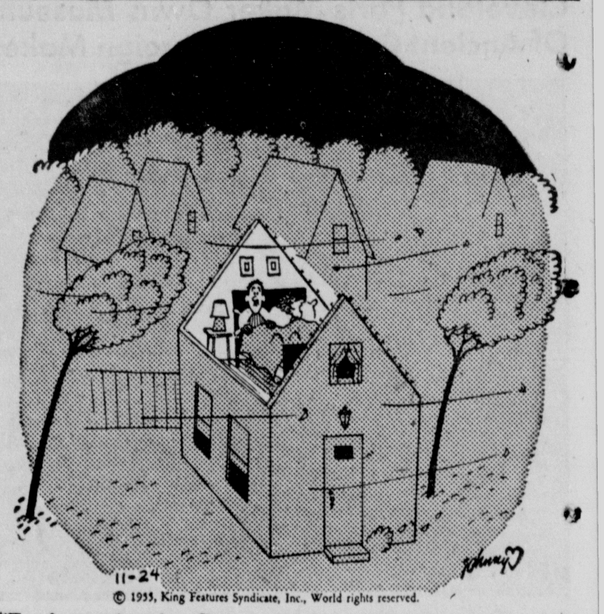

"Can't you see he had no reason to harm Dr. Thomas? And he'd never have done anything to frighten Paula. He's been a decoy, Shandy. No, please let me call Jane."

Shandy capitulated. And Lois was right. There had been two people in the garden.

Try, Stop Me

It seems to me that many of our most-publicized "characters" spend about three-fourths of their time striving desperately to live up to the reputations their press agents create for them. I've often wondered how long they'd continue with their little peccadillos (sometimes so elaborate, so time-consuming!) if some carefully alerted gentlemen of the press weren't on deck to recrod every detail for posterity. I remember, for example, the evening the magnificently mustachioed Salvador Dali became so enraged at a Fifth Avenue department store's display based on his art that he smashed the plate-glass window and wrecked the interior with his cane. So spontaneous and uncalculated was his indignation, in fact, that the presence of reporters and a camera crew, who managed to get the story on to the front pages of the next morning's papers, could only have been a miraculous coincidence!

Turkeyburgers-- New Way To Use Leftover Turkey

Try turkeyburgers when looking for new ways to use leftover turkey meat, suggests Irene Netz, Ohio State University extension nutritionist.

One cup of chopped, cooked turkey, one beaten egg and a small chopped onion combine to make these supper sandwiches. Shape the mixture into flat patties and brown in fat in a skillet or place under the broiler. Serve between toasted buns with pickle relish.

Miss Netz suggests potato chips, crisp relishes, such as carrot and celery trips, pickles, steaming hot coffee or cocoa and small scoops of tangy orange sherbet to complete this meal.

Many homemakers like to strip turkey meat from the carcass, wrap in meal-sized packages and store in the freezer for later use. However, the specialist points out, turkey meat and stuffing should be stored separately in the refrigerator or freezer.

The quicker food cools after processing for canning, the better the texture and less chance of spoilage.

Character Actor Dies At Age 45

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James A. Millican, 45, a character actor who had appeared in more than 400 films since he came to Hollywood in 1933, died Thursday after a brief illness.

The actor in recent years had appeared in television also. His best known screen work included parts in "Strategic Air Command," "High Noon,," "Man From Laramie," and "I died a Thousand Deaths."

Man Finds Car In Hotel Bed

DALLAS (AP)—When Mrs. Edward Lee Cowart investigated a noise in their hotel bedroom last night, she reported to her husband, "You've got a car in your bed."

A late-model car had missed a turn in a skyscraper parking building next to the hotel, leaped six feet through space, and crashed through the wall of the third-floor bedroom. The Cowarts were visiting in another room across the hall at the time.

11 Banknotes Made From 10 Good Bills

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says crooks have found a way to make 11 banknotes out of 10.

The crooks cut strips out of 10 notes, which then are pasted together again and passed to merchants who suspect nothing worse than normal wear and tear. The gleaned strips are joined together to make a complete note. Result: a 10 per cent profit.

Police said about a dozen of the false notes have turned up.

G. Stonerock Holds County Scoring Lead

Williamsport forward Gene Stonerock continues to set the scoring pace in the county basketball league with 93 points in three games for a 31-point per game average.

His closest pursuer is Don Smith of Jackson who has ripped the cords for 67 points in his three league games.

Stonerock's average dropped two points as he scored 27 points against Pickaway last Friday, six points lower than his game average up to that encounter.

Delby Neff, of the Scioto Buffaloes, is four points behind Smith with 63 points. Neff has scored 20 of his points via the foul lane.

NEW FACES among the top 15 scorers include H. Miller of Pickaway who scorched the nets for 33 points against Williamsport last Friday to bring his two-game total to 43 points. Miller scored more points than any other league player last week.

J. Hartman of Saltcreek is also another new-comer to the top 15. He scored 20 points against Scioto to bring his two-game total up to 36 points.

Scioto's Jim Stoer dunked 26 points in the Buffaloes' triumph over Saltcreek to bring his three-game total up to 32 points and to join the top 15.

Army-Navy Result Linked To Defense

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army and Navy meet on the football field tomorrow for the 56th time with the statistics indicating this colorful gridiron classic at Municipal Stadium could well be a test of offensive skill.

Army, a 6½-point underdog, is the nation's No. 1 defensive team. It has yielded only 139.5 yards per game in winning five of eight contests. Navy, last year's 27-20 winner, ranks third defensively. The Middies have given up an average of 169 yards a game while winning six, losing to Notre Dame and tying Duke.

But, as has often been the case in the heated interservice rivalry, the offense could well rise to unexpected heights.

Navy's attack is geared to the throwing arm of 165-pound George Welsh from Coaldale, Pa., fully recovered from a sore toe that hampered his play in late season games. Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz calls Welsh the greatest quarterback he has ever coached.

Don Holleder, a. 187 - pounder from Webster, N. Y., directs the Army attack. A great end last year, he was switched to quarterback, where he has shown greater ability at running the ball than at passing. But figures show he has completed passes for six touchdowns, only two less than Welsh.

The weather prospect was fair and cool with a fast field. The game will be televised by NBC at 1:15 p. m. EST.

Neck-And-Neck Cage Races Expected On College Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless all signs fail, college basketball followers can expect neck-and-neck races right down the line in each of the four major conferences in the Midwest this season.

This is the way they shape up now:

Iowa is favored to repeat as Big Ten champion after a tight struggle with Illinois. Kansas is picked to dethrone Colorado in the Big Seven, but should be hard pressed by Missouri. St. Louis is the choice in the Missouri Valley but Houston may take it all. Marshall rates the nod over Miami of Ohio in the Mid - America Conference but Bowling Green, an improved team, may beat both.

Marquette, Notre Dame, Dayton and Cincinnati loom as the strongest independents but Xavier of Ohio, Loyola and DePaul of Chicago figure to prove troublesome.

Despite a kidney injury to Sharm Scheuerman, one of the four returning regulars of last year's championship squad, Iowa is still the team to beat in the Big Ten.

Illinois, which closed with a rush to tie for second place last season, has its top seven men back including 6-4 Paul Judson, 6-8 George Bonsalle and 6-5 Bruce Brothers. The Illini also have a highly regarded sophomore center in 6-7 Ted Caiazza. Indiana has only two returning regulars but boasts a fine group of sophomores including 6-8 Archie Dees. Ohio State also is blessed with a strong sophomore contingent plus high scoring Robin Freeman.

Graduation of Chuck Mencel and Dick Garmaker wrecked Minnesota, but the Gophers still have 6-10, 275-pound Bill Simonovich. Wisconsin lost high scoring Dick Cable but hopes for help from a bunch of sophomores, led by 6-6 Ray Gross. Michigan, Michigan State, Northwestern and Purdue also will depend on newcomers. The Wildcats are depending upon 6-11 Bill Schulz to provide the necessary scring punch; the Spartans look to newcomer Max Gonzenbach to team up with holdovers Julius McCoy and Duane Peterson; the Wolverines' most promising newcomers are Pete Tillotson, Randy Tarriex and Joe Sisko; the Boilermakers expect 6-8 Frank Cummings to help Joe Sexson and three other vets.

Marquette, which won 22 straight last year and had a 24-3 over all record, still has its high scorer, Terry Rand, as well as three other holdovers and three good sophomores. Notre Dame's Sugar Bowl champions lost only one man, high scoring Jack Stephens.

Books 'Closed' On Big Ten Hassle

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson officially has closed the books on last Saturdays Ohio State - Michigan football game in which the penalty-jammed closing minutes touched off considerable reaction.

After reviewing available information on the game, Wilson concluded in a statement that the incident was "enlarged out of all proportion to existing facts."

He said the ejection of two Michigan players in the final four minutes of the hectic 17-0 loss to Ohio State came from behavior which was "an understandable byproduct of frustration and demoralization."

Carpenter Paces Lions To Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Halfback Lew Carpenter led the Detroit Lions to a 24-10 National Football League victory over the Green Bay Packers here yesterday.

Carpenter scored two touchdowns, ran 120 yards from scrimmage and caught five passes for 26 yards in a brilliant one-man show. He broke up the fumble-filled game with an explosive 49-yard run early in the fourth quarter.

The play cracked a 10-all tie and brought the Lions their third victory against seven losses. It also squared Green Bay's record at 5-5 and just about ended all hopes the Packers had for a title in the NFL's western division.

Lausse, Fullmer Slated For Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Eduardo Lausse, a power-punching middleweight contender from Argentina, and slugging Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, collide tonight in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder.

The winner of what figures to be an all-out slugfest could go on to a championship fight.

The bout will be telecast by NBC at 10 p. m. EST.

Running Racing Totes Record Tote

NEW YORK (AP)—Thoroughbred racing in the United States is completing another big season, with wagering expected to break all existing records.

That's the picture today after an incomplete compilation of figures from the nation's 24 racing states where parimutuel betting is legalized.

For the third consecutive year the parimutuel turnover exceeded $2 billion, with $2,086,638,242 passing through the mutuel windows in 1955. This represents an increase of approximately 2 per cent over the 1954 total.

Cassady, Parker Granted Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Two mainstays on the Ohio State University football team were singled out for special honors this week.

Yesterday, Howard Cassady, OSU's All-America halfback, was named the Associated Press back of the week.

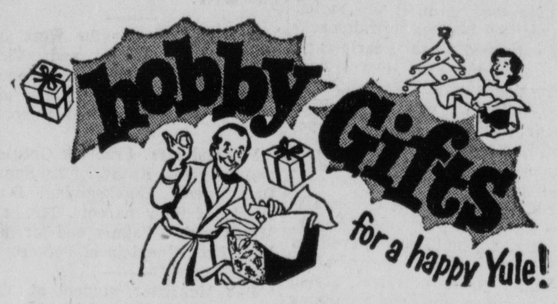

Today, big Jim Parker, Ohio State guard, takes over the spotlight. For his superlative work up front on the Michigan gridiron he was named the Associated Press lineman of the week.

Character Actor Dies At Age 45

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James A. Millican, 45, a character actor who had appeared in more than 400 films since he came to Hollywood in 1933, died Thursday after a brief illness.

The actor in recent years had appeared in television also. His best known screen work included parts in "Strategic Air Command," "High Noon,," "Man From Laramie," and "I died a Thousand Deaths."

Man Finds Car In Hotel Bed

DALLAS (AP)—When Mrs. Edward Lee Cowart investigated a noise in their hotel bedroom last night, she reported to her husband, "You've got a car in your bed."

A late-model car had missed a turn in a skyscraper parking building next to the hotel, leaped six feet through space, and crashed through the wall of the third-floor bedroom. The Cowarts were visiting in another room across the hall at the time.

11 Banknotes Made From 10 Good Bills

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard says crooks have found a way to make 11 banknotes out of 10.

The crooks cut strips out of 10 notes, which then are pasted together again and passed to merchants who suspect nothing worse than normal wear and tear. The gleaned strips are joined together to make a complete note. Result: a 10 per cent profit.

Police said about a dozen of the false notes have turned up.

G. Stonerock Holds County Scoring Lead

Williamsport forward Gene Stonerock continues to set the scoring pace in the county basketball league with 93 points in three games for a 31-point per game average.

His closest pursuer is Don Smith of Jackson who has ripped the cords for 67 points in his three league games.

Stonerock's average dropped two points as he scored 27 points against Pickaway last Friday, six points lower than his game average up to that encounter.

Delby Neff, of the Scioto Buffaloes, is four points behind Smith with 63 points. Neff has scored 20 of his points via the foul lane.

* * *

NEW FACES among the top 15 scorers include H. Miller of Pickaway who scorched the nets for 33 points against Williamsport last Friday to bring his two-game total to 43 points. Miller scored more points than any other league player last week.

J. Hartman of Saltcreek is also another new-comer to the top 15. He scored 20 points against Scioto to bring his two-game total up to 36 points.

Scioto's Jim Stoer dunked 26 points in the Buffaloes' triumph over Saltcreek to bring his three-game total up to 32 points and to join the top 15.

Army-Navy Result Linked To Defense

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army and Navy meet on the football field tomorrow for the 56th time with the statistics indicating this colorful gridiron classic at Municipal Stadium could well be a test of offensive skill.

Army, a 6½-point underdog, is the nation's No. 1 defensive team. It has yielded only 139.5 yards per game in winning five of eight contests. Navy, last year's 27-20 winner, ranks third defensively. The Middies have given up an average of 169 yards a game while winning six, losing to Notre Dame and tying Duke.

But, as has often been the case in the heated interservice rivalry, the offense could well rise to unexpected heights.

Navy's attack is geared to the throwing arm of 165-pound George Welsh from Coaldale, Pa., fully recovered from a sore toe that hampered his play in late season games. Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz calls Welsh the greatest quarterback he has ever coached.

Don Holleder, a 187 - pounder from Webster, N. Y., directs the Army attack. A great end last year, he was switched to quarterback, where he has shown greater ability at running the ball than at passing. But figures show he has completed passes for six touchdowns, only two less than Welsh.

The weather prospect was fair and cool with a fast field. The game will be televised by NBC at 1:15 p. m. EST.

Neck-And-Neck Cage Races Expected On College Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless all signs fail, college basketball followers can expect neck-and-neck races right down the line in each of the four major conferences in the Midwest this season.

This is the way they shape up now:

Iowa is favored to repeat as Big Ten champion after a tight struggle with Illinois. Kansas is picked to dethrone Colorado in the Big Seven, but should be hard pressed by Missouri. St. Louis is the choice in the Missouri Valley but Houston may take it all. Marshall rates the nod over Miami of Ohio in the Mid - America Conference but Bowling Green, an improved team, may beat both.

Marquette, Notre Dame, Dayton and Cincinnati loom as the strongest independents but Xavier of Ohio, Loyola and DePaul of Chicago figure to prove troublesome.

Despite a kidney injury to Sharm Scheuerman, one of the four returning regulars of last year's championship squad, Iowa is still the team to beat in the Big Ten.

Illinois, which closed with a rush to tie for second place last season, has its top seven men back including 6-4 Paul Judson, 6-8 George Bonsalle and 6-5 Bruce Brothers. The Illini also have a highly regarded sophomore center in 6-7 Ted Caiazza. Indiana has only two returning regulars but boasts a fine group of sophomores including 6-8 Archie Dees. Ohio State also is blessed with a strong sophomore contingent plus high scoring Robin Freeman.

Graduation of Chuck Mencel and Dick Garmaker wrecked Minnesota, but the Gophers still have 6-10, 275-pound Bill Simonovich. Wisconsin lost high scoring Dick Cable but hopes for help from a bunch of sophomores, led by 6-6 Ray Gross. Michigan, Michigan State, Northwestern and Purdue also will depend on newcomers. The Wildcats are depending upon 6-11 Bill Schulz to provide the necessary scring punch; the Spartans look to newcomer Max Gonzenbach to team up with holdovers Julius McCoy and Duane Peterson; the Wolverines' most promising newcomers are Pete Tillotson, Randy Tarriex and Joe Sisko; the Boilermakers expect 6-8 Frank Cummings to help Joe Sexson and three other vets.

Marquette, which won 22 straight last year and had a 24-3 over all record, still has its high scorer, Terry Rand, as well as three other holdovers and three good sophomores. Notre Dame's Sugar Bowl champions lost only one man, high scoring Jack Stephens.

Books 'Closed' On Big Ten Hassle

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson officially has closed the books on last Saturdays Ohio State - Michigan football game in which the penalty-jammed closing minutes touched off considerable reaction.

After reviewing available information on the game, Wilson concluded in a statement that the incident was "enlarged out of all proportion to existing facts."

He said the ejection of two Michigan players in the final four minutes of the hectic 17-0 loss to Ohio State came from behavior which was "an understandable byproduct of frustration and demoralization."

Carpenter Paces Lions To Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Halfback Lew Carpenter led the Detroit Lions to a 24-10 National Football League victory over the Green Bay Packers here yesterday.

Carpenter scored two touchdowns, ran 120 yards from scrimmage and caught five passes for 26 yards in a brilliant one-man show. He broke up the fumble-filled game with an explosive 49-yard run early in the fourth quarter.

The play cracked a 10-all tie and brought the Lions their third victory against seven losses. It also squared Green Bay's record at 5-5 and just about ended all hopes the Packers had for a title in the NFL's western division.

Running Racing Totes Record Tote

NEW YORK (AP)—Thoroughbred racing in the United States is completing another big season, with wagering expected to break all existing records.

That's the picture today after an incomplete compilation of figures from the nation's 24 racing states where parimutuel betting is legalized.

For the third consecutive year the parimutuel turnover exceeded $2 billion, with $2,086,638,242 passing through the mutuel windows in 1955. This represents an increase of approximately 2 per cent over the 1954 total.

$$-Day Ahead For 5 Bowl Contenders

Sugar, Cotton Chiefs Taking Last Look At Such Teams As Navy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Saturday is $$$-day for Navy, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Vanderbilt as Sugar and Cotton bowl officials take a last look at the five gridiron contenders before making selections to fill their two remaining lucrative Jan. 2 berths.

Navy, geared for its traditional interservice run-in with Army at Philadelphia, is the pivotal club. Word has it the Middies are favored for the Cotton Bowl opposite Texas Christian.

Favored, that is, if the Middies can dispose of Army again. If Navy accepts the Cotton Bowl invitation expected to follow a Middie victory, it would leave the four Southeastern Conference schools battling to win the Sugar Bowl spot against Pitt.

If Navy declines the bid, or loses to the Cadets, it would leave the Cotton and Sugar bowl selectors switching their bids to the SEC quarter — Ole Miss, Tech, Auburn and Vandy.

The SEC champ generally winds up in New Orleans at the Sugar Bowl, but there's no guarantee.

And there's no guarantee as to who the SEC champ will be either. All four of the bowl hopefuls have a chance.

The Gator Bowl, Sun Bowl and lesser postseason games also hinge on the outcome of tomorrow's games.

Two bowls already have their pairings made in view of conference tieups. The Rose Bowl matches Michigan State of the Big Ten and UCLA of the Pacific Coast. The Orange Bowl pairs Oklahoma, of the Big Seven, and Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference, both unbeaten.

All four powers are listed among the top six in the Associated Press poll, with Oklahoma No. 1 and in search of its 29th straight victory in a regular season windup against Oklahoma A&M Saturday. The other three already have called it quits until Jan. 2.

Mississippi, beaten by Navy 21-0 in the last Sugar Bowl after winning the SEC crown, looks like a repeater, but Tech, Auburn and Vandy still have a chance. Ol Miss plays Mississippi State in the toughest assignment facing the four bowl hopefuls. Tech plays Georgia, Auburn meets winless Alabama and Vandy faces Tennessee.

Some of the traditional season-ending games were played Thursday, with Texas delivering a shocker by upsetting Texas A&M 21-6 That left Texas Christian a clear field for the Southwest Conference crown and an unchallenged right to fill the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas A&M was shooting for its first conference title in 14 years, knowing it couldn't get the bowl berth because of probationary action for violating conference recruiting codes. The conference gave TCU the Cotton bowl bid last week when it was clear the Frogs could be no worse than runner-up. Now TCU can win the title by beating Southern Methodist Saturday.

In other Thanksgiving Day games, Cornell handed Penn its 18th straight defeat 39-7; Wichita gained a share of the Missouri Valley title with Detroit by routing Tulsa 54-0; Wyoming muffed a share of the Skyline crown with Colgate A&M by losing to Denver 6-3 on the last play of the game; Utah edged Utah State 14-13; Miami (Ohio) beat Cincinnati 14-0 for its first unbeaten-untied season since 1921; William & Mary upset Richmond in a 6-6 tie; and VPI whipped VMI 39-13.

Sooners Hope To Capture Famed Trophy

SOUTH BEND (AP)—When the annual Associated Press college football poll ends this weekend, Oklahoma's Sooners may have achieved their second mythical national championship in history.

To nail down the honor, the Sooners, who close Saturday against Oklahoma A&M, must hang onto the No. 1 spot in the AP poll which is the basis for awarding the Father O'Donnell trophy.

Results of the final week's poll will be published Tuesday.

The O'Donnell trophy, named in honor of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, former Irish football player and Notre Dame president from 1940 through 1946, must be won three times to be retired.

Notre Dame inherited sponsorship of a national championship trophy by winning the University of Minnesota's Williams Trophy for the third time in 1947.

Oklahoma took the O'Donnell trophy in 1950 and must hold fast this season against Michigan State and Maryland, who also have one leg on the trophy with 1952 and 1953 triumphs respectively.

The winner of last year's trophy was Ohio State, just crowned Big Ten champion for the second straight year, while Michigan won it in 1948, Notre Dame in 1949 and Tennessee in 1951.

Schools Reminded To Call In Results

Some county schools are failing to call in non-league games to The Herald the morning after the games. In order to get the story in The Herald, results should be called in by 8:30 a. m.

League game results should be brought in or phoned into The Herald at about 10:30 p. m. the night of the games.

Non-league games played the same night as league games, can also be phoned in that evening.

The Herald is willing to give publicity to the county schools but without some sort of cooperation, this isn't possible.

Tiger Cagers In 1st Preview Tonight At 7

Local fans will get a look at Circleville High School's basketball prospects, both varsity and reserves, tonight at 7 in the second annual "Meet The Team" Night.

Coach Red Courtney's hopefuls will scrimmage Watkins Memorial in the presentation. Booster Club tickets will be honored at the door.

At a recent sports banquet, it was stated that Circleville was about to enter into a "new era in basketball." For years, cage action in Roundtown has not had the support it deserves, according to avid fans.

Courtney has six lettermen returning from last season's "junior" squad. These include: Bobby Callihan, Ralph Jones, Jim McConnell, Walt Sieverts, Eddie Tomlinson and Bobby Wellington. Tomlinson at 5' 11", Wellington at 5' 8" and Callihan at 5' 6" are the only repeaters under the 6' mark.

* * *

ADDING SOME height to the Tiger cage squad will be: Dick Banks, 6'; Bob Fraser, 5' 11"; Bill Johnson, 6' 2"; Don Strawser, 6'; Cliff Stewart, 5' 11"; Tom Krinn, 5' 10"; plus Mike Karnes and Jim Hoover.

Courtney, at the recent sports dinner, said that the boys "will give it everything they have. All we ask is that the people give the boys some support and help fill the 2,000 seats in the wonderful, brand new gym."

Tom Bennett, faculty manager, noted that Ross County will hold its tournament here in February. He said "it would sure be a shame if we couldn't fill the gym before they do."

Two innovations have been planned to stir interest in basketball. In one, a freshman team has been formed for the first time in cage history here, providing a "chain of command" from the lower grades. In this way, CHS coaches will be able to train younger boys so that they can move up to the varsity.

Second, a special book of tickets is being set up for the home games. They will be good for any night on the home schedule; they can be used one at a time for each home game or all at once at any one game.

Circleville officially opens its cage season next Tuesday here against Athens.

Scott Frost Cops Another Big Purse

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Three-year-old Scott Frost added the $75,000 American Trotting Classic yesterday to his year of sensational achievements.

The son of Hoot Mon out of Nora clicked off a fast 1:59 4-5 mile, going practically wire to wire with Darn Safe again chasing him home before a crowd of 12,860 sulky fans.

Victory gave owner Saul Camp of Shafter $31,841 to go with the $154,259 already pocketed for 22 previous wins, two seconds and one third this season—the most any standard-bred horse has made in a year.

Miami Ready To Accept 'Gator Invite

CINCINNATI (AP)—If the sponsors of the Gator Bowl game are interested, Miami University's unbeaten and untied Redskins will be very happy to display their football talents in that annual game at Jacksonville, Fla., on Jan. 2.

Miami, which earlier was crowned Mid - American Conference champion wound up its nine-game schedule here yesterday without a defeat or a tie by beating its 60-game rival, Cincinnati, 14-0.

Immediately after the game the Redskin players went into a closed door huddle with Dean Raymond Glos and voted to accept a Gator Bowl bid if one is forthcoming.

There have been reports Miami is being considered for the game at Jacksonville.

But the players aren't interested in any of the smaller bowl games.

Athletic Director John Brickels said Miami has not yet been invited to the Gator Bowl but he added the vote of the players was taken so the school could give an immediate answer if an offer comes along.

A bad attack of fumbles plagued Miami through much of yesterday's game with Cincinnati and it wasn't until the fourth quarter that the Redskins were able to push across the touchdowns that brought victory.

The victory was Miami's 28th against Cincinnati in the series which had its beginning in 1888. Cincinnati has won 26 games and there have been six ties.

It also gave Miami its first perfect season since 1921 and gave Coach Ara Parseghian a record of 39 triumphs as against 6 defeats and 1 tie in his five years as head coach at Miami.

Ousted Little Loop Boss Calls Meet

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Carl E. Stotz, ousted as commissioner of Little League, Inc., has called a meeting in Pittsburgh Dec. 10-11 'to find a manner in which a sound Little League program can be conducted."

Stotz was discharged Tuesday after he filed a breach of contract suit against the league which he founded. He claims that his contract has been breached to a point of "endangering Little League, in that the commissioner and volunteer unpaid field workers no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy."

$$-Day Ahead For 5 Bowl Contenders

Sugar, Cotton Chiefs Taking Last Look At Such Teams As Navy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Saturday is $$$-day for Navy, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Vanderbilt as Sugar and Cotton bowl officials take a last look at the five gridiron contenders before making selections to fill their two remaining lucrative Jan. 2 berths.

Navy, geared for its traditional interservice run-in with Army at Philadelphia, is the pivotal club. Word has it the Middies are favored for the Cotton Bowl opposite Texas Christian.

Favored, that is, if the Middies can dispose of Army again. If Navy accepts the Cotton Bowl invitation expected to follow a Middie victory, it would leave the four Southeastern Conference schools battling to win the Sugar Bowl spot against Pitt.

If Navy declines the bid, or loses to the Cadets, it would leave the Cotton and Sugar bowl selectors switching their bids to the SEC quarter — Ole Miss, Tech, Auburn and Vandy.

The SEC champ generally winds up in New Orleans at the Sugar Bowl, but there's no guarantee.

And there's no guarantee as to who the SEC champ will be either. All four of the bowl hopefuls have a chance.

The Gator Bowl, Sun Bowl and lesser postseason games also hinge on the outcome of tomorrow's games.

Two bowls already have their pairings made in view of conference tieups. The Rose Bowl matches Michigan State of the Big Ten and UCLA of the Pacific Coast. The Orange Bowl pairs Oklahoma, of the Big Seven, and Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference, both unbeaten.

All four powers are listed among the top six in the Associated Press poll, with Oklahoma No. 1 and in search of its 29th straight victory in a regular season windup against Oklahoma A&M Saturday. The other three already have called it quits until Jan. 2.

Mississippi, beaten by Navy 21-0 in the last Sugar Bowl after winning the SEC crown, looks like a repeater, but Tech, Auburn and Vandy still have a chance. Ol Miss plays Mississippi State in the toughest assignment facing the four bowl hopefuls. Tech plays Georgia, Auburn meets winless Alabama and Vandy faces Tennessee.

Some of the traditional season-ending games were played Thursday, with Texas delivering a shocker by upsetting Texas A&M 21.6 That left Texas Christian a clear field for the Southwest Conference crown and an unchallenged right to fill the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas A&M was shooting for its first conference title in 14 years, knowing it couldn't get the bowl berth because of probationary action for violating conference recruiting codes. The conference gave TCU the Cotton bowl bid last week when it was clear the Frogs could be no worse than runner-up. Now TCU can win the title by beating Southern Methodist Saturday.

In other Thanksgiving Day games, Cornell handed Penn its 18th straight defeat 39-7; Wichita gained a share of the Missouri Valley title with Detroit by routing Tulsa 54-0; Wyoming muffed a share of the Skyline crown with Colgate A&M by losing to Denver 6-3 on the last play of the game; Utah edged Utah State 14-13; Miami (Ohio) beat Cincinnati 14-0 for its first unbeaten-untied season since 1921; William & Mary upset Richmond in a 6-6 tie; and VPI whipped VMI 39-13.

Sooners Hope To Capture Famed Trophy

SOUTH BEND (AP)—When the annual Associated Press college football poll ends this weekend, Oklahoma's Sooners may have achieved their second mythical national championship in history.

To nail down the honor, the Sooners, who close Saturday against Oklahoma A&M, must hang onto the No. 1 spot in the AP poll which is the basis for awarding the Father O'Donnell trophy.

Results of the final week's poll will be published Tuesday.

The O'Donnell trophy, named in honor of the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, former Irish football player and Notre Dame president from 1940 through 1946, must be won three times to be retired.

Notre Dame inherited sponsorship of a national championship trophy by winning the University of Minnesota's Williams Trophy for the third time in 1947.

Oklahoma took the O'Donnell trophy in 1950 and must hold fast this season against Michigan State and Maryland, who also have one leg on the trophy with 1952 and 1953 triumphs respectively.

The winner of last year's trophy was Ohio State, just crowned Big Ten champion for the second straight year, while Michigan won it in 1948, Notre Dame in 1949 and Tennessee in 1951.

Schools Reminded To Call In Results

Some county schools are failing to call in non-league games to The Herald the morning after the games. In order to get the story in The Herald, results should be called in by 8:30 a. m.

League game results should be brought in or phoned into The Herald at about 10:30 p. m. the night of the games.

Non-league games played the same night as league games, can also be phoned in that evening.

The Herald is willing to give publicity to the county schools but without some sort of cooperation, this isn't possible.

Tiger Cagers In 1st Preview Tonight At 7

Local fans will get a look at Circleville High School's basketball prospects, both varsity and reserves, tonight at 7 in the second annual "Meet The Team" Night.

Coach Red Courtney's hopefuls will scrimmage Watkins Memorial in the presentation. Booster Club tickets will be honored at the door.

At a recent sports banquet, it was stated that Circleville was about to enter into a "new era in basketball." For years, cage action in Roundtown has not had the support it deserves, according to avid fans.

Courtney has six lettermen returning from last season's "junior" squad. These include: Bobby Callihan, Ralph Jones, Jim McConnell, Walt Sieverts, Eddie Tomlinson and Bobby Wellington. Tomlinson at 5' 11", Wellington at 5' 8" and Callihan at 5' 6" are the only repeaters under the 6' mark.

* * *

ADDING SOME height to the Tiger cage squad will be: Dick Banks, 6'; Bob Fraser, 5' 11"; Bill Johnson, 6' 2"; Don Strawser, 6'; Cliff Stewart, 5' 11"; Tom Krinn, 5' 10"; plus Mike Karnes and Jim Hoover.

Courtney, at the recent sports dinner, said that the boys "will give it everything they have. All we ask is that the people give the boys some support and help fill the 2,000 seats in the wonderful, brand new gym."

Tom Bennett, faculty manager, noted that Ross County will hold its tournament here in February. He said "it would sure be a shame if we couldn't fill the gym before they do."

Two innovations have been planned to stir interest in basketball. In one, a freshman team has been formed for the first time in cage history here, providing a "chain of command" from the lower grades. In this way, CHS coaches will be able to train younger boys so that they can move up to the varsity.

Second, a special book of tickets is being set up for the home games. They will be good for any night on the home schedule; they can be used one at a time for each home game or all at once at any one game.

Circleville officially opens its cage season next Tuesday here against Athens.

Scott Frost Cops Another Big Purse

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Three-year-old Scott Frost added the $75,000 American Trotting Classic yesterday to his year of sensational achievements.

The son of Hoot Mon out of Nora clicked off a fast 1:59 4-5 mile, going practically wire to wire with Darn Safe again chasing him home before a crowd of 12,860 sulky fans.

Victory gave owner Saul Camp of Shafter $31,841 to go with the $154,259 already pocketed for 22 previous wins, two seconds and one third this season—the most any standard-bred horse has made in a year.

Miami Ready To Accept 'Gator Invite

CINCINNATI (AP)—If the sponsors of the Gator Bowl game are interested, Miami University's unbeaten and untied Redskins will be very happy to display their football talents in that annual game at Jacksonville, Fla., on Jan. 2.

Miami, which earlier was crowned Mid - American Conference champion wound up its nine-game schedule here yesterday without a defeat or a tie by beating its 60-game rival, Cincinnati, 14-0.

Immediately after the game the Redskin players went into a closed door huddle with Dean Raymond Glos and voted to accept a Gator Bowl bid if one is forthcoming.

There have been reports Miami is being considered for the game at Jacksonville.

But the players aren't interested in any of the smaller bowl games.

Athletic Director John Brickels said Miami has not yet been invited to the Gator Bowl but he added the vote of the players was taken so the school could give an immediate answer if an offer comes along.

A bad attack of fumbles plagued Miami through much of yesterday's game with Cincinnati and it wasn't until the fourth quarter that the Redskins were able to push across the touchdowns that brought victory.

The victory was Miami's 28th against Cincinnati in the series which had its beginning in 1888. Cincinnati has won 26 games and there have been six ties.

It also gave Miami its first perfect season since 1921 and gave Coach Ara Parseghian a record of 39 triumphs as against 6 defeats and 1 tie in his five years as head coach at Miami.

Ousted Little Loop Boss Calls Meet

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Carl E. Stotz, ousted as commissioner of Little League, Inc., has called a meeting in Pittsburgh Dec. 10-11 'to find a manner in which a sound Little League program can be conducted."

Stotz was discharged Tuesday after he filed a breach of contract suit against the league which he founded. He claims that his contract has been breached to a point of "endangering Little League, in that the commissioner and volunteer unpaid field workers no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy."

Number Of Ohio Farms Dips But Tilled Acre Total Is Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of Ohio farms is shrinking, but the total of tilled acres in the Buckeye State is growing, preliminary reports of the 1954 federal farm census showed today.

In the four-year gap between the 1950 general census and the 1954 checkup:

The number of farms dropped from 199,359 to 177,074.

Total acres under cultivation rose from 10,295,590 to 10,339,955.

The number of idle acres—cropland neither harvested nor pastured—dwindled to 749,474 from 1,033,871.

The size of the average farm increased from 105.2 acres to 112.9.

Television sets in farm homes became nearly as numerous as telephones: There were 115,363 newfangled video gadgets and 126,868 phones.

Fewer than 6,000 farms were without electricity; in 1950 nearly 14,000 lacked electric power.

The number of farms above the 1,000-acre mark jumped from 188 to 214.

The mass of statistics appeared to indicate one significant trend: Ohio is becoming less of a hog-producing state and its interest in the production of cattle is increasing.

More than 27,000 farmers stepped out of the hog business in the four-year span. In 1950, there were 3,156,027 hogs on Ohio farms, but in 1954 there were only 2,771,117.

While 21,000 fewer farms were raising cattle in 1954 than in 1951, the number of cattle in Ohio increased from 2,036,276 to 2,361,229.

The busy Ohio agriculture industry was prospering, reports on commercial farms indicated.

The number of Class I farms—Those which sell more than $25,000 worth of products a year — nearly doubled in the four-year period from 1,782 to 3,043. In the $10,000 - $25,000 class (Class II) there were 19,739 farms compared with 12,158 in 1950. Class III —the $5,000-$10,000 group — dwindled slightly, from 33,392 to 32,502. There was a drop of more than 8,000 in the Class IV, $2,500-$5,000 group.

Even with the drop of more than 22,000 in the number of Ohio farms, the total of commercial farms with sales above $2,500 a year stayed about the same—87,000. But the number of farms with sales below $2,500 dropped from 47,273 to 36,400.

While farm sales were rising in dollars, the value of farm lands and buildings also was soaring. The average Ohio farm was valued at $21,057 in 1954. The 1950 average value was $14,575.

Estimated value of the average acre of farmland last year was $184.27 against a 1950 value of $136.34.

Possibly indicating the encroachment of expanding cities on available farmland, almost one million acres was lost from the farmland classification in the four years. This is in face of the fact that nearly 44,000 more acres were under cultivation. This indicates a more thorough use of available land.

Of Ohio's 26,240,000 acres—41,000 square miles—76.2 per cent are in farms.

Both the number and percentage of farm tenants have decreased. The number dropped in the four-year period from 35,642 to 29,102 and the percentage of all farms occupied by tenants sagged from 17.9 to 16.4.

Approximaely two of every five farm operators have employment aside from their own farming operations for at least 100 days a year. More than half reported some off-farm employment.

Nearly 60,000 farm families reported their non-farm income exceeded their farm income. This was a drop of 5,575 from 1949 figures.

Another indication of general farm prosperity was the increasing ability of the operators to buy farm equipment. In the four-year period, Ohio farms had 43,344 more home freezers, 2,462 more milking machines, 13,489 more grain combines, 19,876 more corn pickers, 16,959 more pickup hay bailers 13,099 more trucks, and 50,517 more tractors.

Despite the 22,000 drop in the number of farms, the number of autos owned by farm families dropped only 11,000, indicating 11,000 more two-car farm families.

With all the mechanization, Old Dobbin was doing a fast fadeout from the farm picture, along with his half-brother, the mule. Almost half the horse-mule population disappeared in four years. It dropped from 152,853 to 79,419, a decrease of 73,434.

The number of sheep and lambs jumped an almost even 10 per cent as did chicken production. Fewer farms were raising turkeys, but production more than doubled.

Ohio Liquor Sales Nearing Record High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Liquor Director William C. Bryant says Ohio is approaching a record 200-million-dollar sale of liquor this year.

Latest records, up to Nov. 5, show state liquor sales totaled $155,091,581.

"We usually do a third of our year's business in the last 60 days because of the heavy Christmas and New Year's buying," said Bryant.

"We are going to end up this year very close to 200 million dollars. That will be an all-time high figure."

The record was set in 1953 when sales totaled $195,695,708. Sales up to Nov. 5 that year were $153,002,989.

Sales to that date in 1955 are two million dollars more. But Bryant points out liquor prices are higher this year.

This is largely due to the additional 50-cent-a-gallon markup as of last June 6 to help finance an expanded mental health program for Ohio.

Bryant said an anticipated increase in sales this year will mean a larger profit for the liquor department.

In the peak year of 1953, profit was $19,443,000. Last year it was $18,226,000. Bryant expects to go over the 20 million dollar mark this year.

The director also forecast a shortage of supplies in some of the "well-advertised" brands of Scotch whiskies for Christmas and New Year's. He said this includes "about a dozen" of the 41 brands of imported Scotch on state store shelves.

College 'Bombing' Labeled As Prank

AMES, Iowa (AP)—An atmosphere of relief and quiet has settled over Iowa State College today with the discovery that there was no explosive material in the "dynamite bomb" that had been planted in a girls' dormitory.

Authorities virtually wrote off the bomb scare as the work of a student prankster.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the Iowa Bureau of Investigation and Ames Police Chief Orville Erickson disclosed that the material in five dynamite sticks rigged up in a device found in Elm Hall last Monday was non-explosive.

Railroader Killed

WILMINGTON (AP) — B. V. McCain, 35, of Lancaster, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, was injured fatally here yesterday as he fell under the wheels of a train.

Parking Meter Take Climbing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Parking meter collections last year in 111 of Ohio's 139 cities brought in $4,581,171, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports. This is an increase of 160,072 over 1953.

Law violators paid $9,055,876 in fines, costs and forfeitures in 1954 as compared with $7,918,321 in 1953, according to Rhodes' reports from municipal finance officers.

Number Of Ohio Farms Dips But Tilled Acre Total Is Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of Ohio farms is shrinking, but the total of tilled acres in the Buckeye State is growing, preliminary reports of the 1954 federal farm census showed today.

In the four-year gap between the 1950 general census and the 1954 checkup:

The number of farms dropped from 199,359 to 177,074.

Total acres under cultivation rose from 10,295,590 to 10,339,955.

The number of idle acres—cropland neither harvested nor pastured—dwindled to 749,474 from 1,033,871.

The size of the average farm increased from 105.2 acres to 112.9.

Television sets in farm homes became nearly as numerous as telephones: There were 115,363 newfangled video gadgets and 126,868 phones.

Fewer than 6,000 farms were without electricity; in 1950 nearly 14,000 lacked electric power.

The number of farms above the 1,000-acre mark jumped from 188 to 214.

The mass of statistics appeared to indicate one significant trend: Ohio is becoming less of a hog-producing state and its interest in the production of cattle is increasing.

More than 27,000 farmers stepped out of the hog business in the four-year span. In 1950, there were 3,156,027 hogs on Ohio farms, but in 1954 there were only 2,771,117.

While 21,000 fewer farms were raising cattle in 1954 than in 1951, the number of cattle in Ohio increased from 2,036,276 to 2,361,229.

The busy Ohio agriculture industry was prospering, reports on commercial farms indicated.

The number of Class I farms—Those which sell more than $25,000 worth of products a year — nearly doubled in the four-year period from 1,782 to 3,043. In the $10,000 - $25,000 class (Class II) there were 19,739 farms compared with 12,158 in 1950. Class III —the $5,000-$10,000 group — dwindled slightly, from 33,392 to 32,502. There was a drop of more than 8,000 in the Class IV, $2,500-$5,000 group.

Even with the drop of more than 22,000 in the number of Ohio farms, the total of commercial farms with sales above $2,500 a year stayed about the same—87,000. But the number of farms with sales below $2,500 dropped from 47,273 to 36,400.

While farm sales were rising in dollars, the value of farm lands and buildings also was soaring. The average Ohio farm was valued at $21,057 in 1954. The 1950 average value was $14,575.

Estimated value of the average acre of farmland last year was $184.27 against a 1950 value of $136.34.

Possibly indicating the encroachment of expanding cities on available farmland, almost one million acres was lost from the farmland classification in the four years. This is in face of the fact that nearly 44,000 more acres were under cultivation. This indicates a more thorough use of available land.

Of Ohio's 26,240,000 acres—41,000 square miles—76.2 per cent are in farms.

Both the number and percentage of farm tenants have decreased. The number dropped in the four-year period from 35,642 to 29,102 and the percentage of all farms occupied by tenants sagged from 17.9 to 16.4.

Approximaely two of every five farm operators have employment aside from their own farming operations for at least 100 days a year. More than half reported some off-farm employment.

Nearly 60,000 farm families reported their non-farm income exceeded their farm income. This was a drop of 5,575 from 1949 figures.

Another indication of general farm prosperity was the increasing ability of the operators to buy farm equipment. In the four-year period, Ohio farms had 43,344 more home freezers, 2,462 more milking machines, 13,489 more grain combines, 19,876 more corn pickers, 16,959 more pickup hay bailers 13,099 more trucks, and 50,517 more tractors.

Despite the 22,000 drop in the number of farms, the number of autos owned by farm families dropped only 11,000, indicating 11,000 more two-car farm families.

With all the mechanization, Old Dobbin was doing a fast fadeout from the farm picture, along with his half-brother, the mule. Almost half the horse-mule population disappeared in four years. It dropped from 152,853 to 79,419, a decrease of 73,434.

The number of sheep and lambs jumped an almost even 10 per cent as did chicken production. Fewer farms were raising turkeys, but production more than doubled.

Ohio Liquor Sales Nearing Record High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Liquor Director William C. Bryant says Ohio is approaching a record 200-million-dollar sale of liquor this year.

Latest records, up to Nov. 5, show state liquor sales totaled $155,091,581.

"We usually do a third of our year's business in the last 60 days because of the heavy Christmas and New Year's buying," said Bryant.

"We are going to end up this year very close to 200 million dollars. That will be an all-time high figure."

The record was set in 1953 when sales totaled $195,695,708. Sales up to Nov. 5 that year were $153,002,989.

Sales to that date in 1955 are two million dollars more. But Bryant points out liquor prices are higher this year.

This is largely due to the additional 50-cent-a-gallon markup as of last June 6 to help finance an expanded mental health program for Ohio.

Bryant said an anticipated increase in sales this year will mean a larger profit for the liquor department.

In the peak year of 1953, profit was $19,443,000. Last year it was $18,226,000. Bryant expects to go over the 20 million dollar mark this year.

The director also forecast a shortage of supplies in some of the "well-advertised" brands of Scotch whiskies for Christmas and New Year's. He said this includes "about a dozen" of the 41 brands of imported Scotch on state store shelves.

College 'Bombing' Labeled As Prank

AMES, Iowa (AP)—An atmosphere of relief and quiet has settled over Iowa State College today with the discovery that there was no explosive material in the "dynamite bomb" that had been planted in a girls' dormitory.

Authorities virtually wrote off the bomb scare as the work of a student prankster.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the Iowa Bureau of Investigation and Ames Police Chief Orville Erickson disclosed that the material in five dynamite sticks rigged up in a device found in Elm Hall last Monday was non-explosive.

Railroader Killed

WILMINGTON (AP) — B. V. McCain, 35, of Lancaster, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, was injured fatally here yesterday as he fell under the wheels of a train.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Parking meter collections last year in 111 of Ohio's 139 cities brought in $4,581,171, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports. This is an increase of 160,072 over 1953.

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH

Hi-Y Club enjoyed a very inspiring film, "Thy Word Giveth Light," at its last regular meeting.

During the business meeting the treasurer, Wendell Emerine, reported on the proceeds from a recent paper drive.

This year's paper drive netted more money than any other in the past several years, according to Frederick Goeglein, the club's sponsor.

President, Robert Wellington, appointed Dick Banks, Wendell Emerine, Dick Greeno, Austin Laughlin, Walter Sieverts, and Eddie Walters to a committee which prepared the annual Thanksgiving assembly.

He also appointed a committee to make arrangements for a Christmas tree for the school cafeteria. Members of this committee are: Ralph Jones, Laughlin, Ed Martin, Glenn Metzler, and Ronald Straight.

Laughlin, Jon Parcher, Carl Porter, and Ronald Warren arranged the evening's program.

"Is Circleville High School Ready for a Student Council?" was the topic of a recent debate held by the Junior EMS.

Constitution: Austin Laughlin, chairman; Barbara Samuel; Judy Teal; and Pat Williams.

Program: Sharon Hedges, chairman; Carol Barnes; Jerry Parish; and Debbie Ridlon.

Hi-Notes: Barbara Allen, chairman; Flo Goldschmidt; and Lois Walters. Hi-Notes Representative: Jo Goldschmidt.

Pins: Anne Steele, chairman; Karen Ayers and Wanda Rose.

Pen-Pal: Teresa Arledge, chairman; George Meyers and Bonnie Thomas.

House: Phyllis McFee, chairman ;Dottie Boggs; Carolyn Callihan and Bettina Houghton.

Christmas: Charlene Bass, chairman; Joyce Goodman.

The program, following the business meeting, consisted of the debate, which brought to light many points, for and against a student council.

Dottie Boggs served as moderator for the two sides.

Eighteen Circleville high school boys met recently to prepare an application for a charter to Key Club International.

Mr. Crawford Bradley and the Reverend Charles Reed of the local Kiwanis club of Circleville are the new group's sponsors.

In the election, George Kerr became president and Eddie Walters, vice-president; Dale Wilkinson, secretary; Charles Gerhardt, treasurer with Dick Banks, Ronald Stucker and Mike Kirkpatrick as the Board of Directors.

Next meeting will be Nov. 29 at 12:15 p. m. in room 12 of the High School building.

Lois Wittich and Betty Leist, first-sopranos, Phyllis McKee and Judy Hurst, second-sopranos, and Lucreatta McNeal and Elaine Woodward, altos, are the new members of the high-school sextet.

First performance of the group will be Dec. 4 at the Elk's Memorial Service. Its next appearance will be at the PTA meeting Dec. 8.

The Pulitzer Prize award winning comedy, "You Can't Take 't With You," presented by the Junior Class as its annual play, was well received by the audiences recently.

The Sycamore family, subject of the play, amused everyone with peculiar hobbies and personalities. A ballerina, painter-playwright, printer, and many others compose this funniest of all American families.

According to Mrs. Catherine Pruden, director, the attendance was very good particularly on Friday evening. The class grossed $279 on the production. Profit from this will help to pay the expense of the Junior-Senior prom, the Juniors' next big project.

Judy Barnhill, Barbara Bell, Sandy Callihan, Ellen Neff, Elizabeth Tomlinson and Phyllis Ulman were chosen as Junior High Cheerleaders.

Alternates picked at the same time were Patty Dresbach and Linda Clark. The girls will appear at the first junior high basketball games Dec. 2.

County Traffic Safety Group Hit Hard By Lack Of Funds

Local Committee Unable To Actively Participate In All-Out Safe Driving Effort Next Thursday

Lack of funds will probably prohibit the Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee from actively participating in the national and state Safe Driving Day next Thursday, Dec. 1.

This plus the fact that some literature which had been promised to the committee had been exhausted apparently has taken the drive from the expected momentum the group had intended to build up for S-D Day, according to a spokesman.

Pickaway County is experiencing what is thought to be the highest injury rate due to traffic accidents here in modern history. As of the end of October, according to records from Sheriff Charles Radcliff's office, at least 311 persons have already been injured. The only apparent "bright" spot in the traffic picture for the county is that no traffic deaths have occurred here since Aug. 15, although there have been several close calls.

Governor Frank J. Lausche said he believed the people of Ohio would "go all out" to support the second annual traffic safety campaign of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Committee For Traffic Safety. This extensive nationwide campaign-appeal for careful driving challenges the nation's 72 million drivers to reach a goal of no traffic accident deaths in their home communities for 24 hours.

* * *

U. C. FELTY, director of the Department of Highway Safety, who was appointed S-D Day Coordinator of Ohio by Governor Lausche, said that "the facts are —1882 persons died on Ohio streets and highways last year. S-D Day 1955 is the time for every driver in this state to prove to himself that safe, sane driving every day can lower that terrible toll, just as it will on S-D Day."

He reported that he has asked every Ohio community to enlist public, official, and commercial and industrial support for the campaign, aided by intensified enforcement efforts on the part of all police departments, sheriffs and the entire State Highway Patrol.

"The real responsibility, however, rests upon the individual driver," Felty added.

In the nation, the President's committee reports that traffic accidents killed 36,000 pepole last year, injured somebody every 25 seconds and cost an estimated $4.4 billion in medical bills, property loss and other expense. Fifty years were required for traffic accidents to kill one million persons, yet the President's committee estimates that at the present rate of increase of population and operating motor vehicles, it may take only half as long to chalk up the next million.

President Eisenhower agreed with Harlow H. Curtice, chairman of his traffic safety committee, that a vital part of the answer to the problem lies in ". . . .stimulating effective community action throughout the country."

S-D Day Coordinator Felty directs this message to each Ohio community: "The necessity for action is immediate. If there is anyone in Ohio who has not had some member of his family, friend or neighbor injured by a traffic accident, then he's a mighty lucky individual. Let's make S-D Day 1955 in Ohio a day well worth remembering."

Cottage Integration Works OK In Ohio Training Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Integration of boys under 15 at Boys Industrial School cottages has worked well, and in about one year there will be no segregation by race or creed there or at the Girls Industrial School.

Those plans were disclosed today by John Ferguson, chief of the State Division of Juvenile Research and Classification.

He said desegregation began at the girls school near Delaware about two years ago. The "pilot study" at the boys school at Lancaster—largest such institution in the nation—began Oct. 29.

Under the new setup, both Negro and white boys live in the same cottage. There never has been segregation at the school's reception cottage, hospital, discipline squad family, in classrooms, or shops.

"We think integration will help us in working with the boys," said Ferguson, "because it eliminates some potential problems. The boys won't have a chance to complain of unequal treatment."

More than 100 years ago, Ohio adopted the parent plan for watching over delinquent boys in state institutions. The cottages where the boys lived were small, only large enough for about eight boys. In each cottage a man and wife acted as "cottage parents." The entire unit was considered a family.

As cottages grew in size, it became apparent the parent plan was one in name only, as the cottages were more like dormitories than family units.

Cottage parents work from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m., with hours off during the day while the inmates are at school or at work. The working hours will be changed July 1, the day State Mental Hygiene and Correction employes go on the 44-hour week as mandated by the Legislature.

Ferguson said cottage parents probably will be put on a shift basis, with the husband working an entire shift and the wife but part of the day. They would have other institution duties when the inmates are away from the cottages.

That would mean the end of the parent concept of caring for the boys, and a logical time to begin integration in other cottages.

One of the most perplexing problems facing Ferguson is how to find enough help to keep the institution going well after the 44-hour week goes into effect. While the Legislature gave him more money for salaries than he had before, pay raises took care of the additional funds.

Integration will be delayed some until personnel problems are solved.

A new building, actually two cottages and cafeterias under one roof, will be dedicated in December at the girls school. The girls who will live in that building will be integrated. Ferguson said he should have 13 more people to operate the building — but he doesn't have the money to hire them.

"So we'll spread out the staff we have now," he said.

In January, a new reception cottage opens at the girls school, and there, too, girls will be integrated. "Then we'll go on from there," said Ferguson. "If we complete integration in a year, that's soon. There's no pressing need to hurry it up, while staff problems are unsolved."

Girls now are separated at the girls school, except in the honor cottage, where integration has been in effect since it was built about two years ago.

There never has been segregation at the third state institution for juveniles, the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus. There boys and girls arrive for but short stays, after which they are sent to industrial schools or elsewhere.

The juveniles are separated there only according to age, maturity and their problems.

"We've had no difficulties there," said Ferguson. "And in the six years I've held this job we've had no race problems, unless you call two boys fighting a problem."

Pioneer Flier Dies In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fred J. Gelhaus, pioneer flier and airport engineer, is dead.

Gelhaus, who learned to fly at the Glenn L. Martin School in Los Angeles in 1915, pioneered the first U. S. Air Mail route between New York and Cleveland in 1920 and for the next six years was airport manager for the U. S. Air Mail Service at Bryan, Ohio, and Bellefonte, Pa.

Ike Again Passes Physical Checkup

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisehower got another glowing report from his doctors Wednesday after a 50-minute checkup.

They said he continues to progress satisfactorily in his recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack and shows "no symptoms or evidence of fatigue from the activities of his office or at the farm."

GOP 'Refuses' To Aid Farmer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The administration has the power to improve farm income but refuses to use it, the Democratic chairman of the House Agricultural Appropriations Subcommitee contends.

Rep. James L. Whitten of Mississippi told the 89th convention of the National Grange the government could raise farm income by selling American farm surpluses abroad at competitive prices.

He said the administration does not have a farm program, but "a middleman's program.'

"It simply lowers the bidding price to the farmer, without any requirement that such amount be reflected in the retail price of the finished product," he said.

10 More Insurance Firms Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has filed complaints accusing 10 additional insurance companies of false advertising of accident and health insurance policies.

This made 41 such complaints brought against insurance firms in the last year in the agency's drive to stop what it calls misrepresentation of policy benefits.

The new complaints, FTC said, include charges of misrepresenting such things as the duration of polices, health requirements for policyholders, amounts paid for hospital and surgical bills and the number of types of illnesses covered.

State Treasurer Takes Petition

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy has taken out petitions as a candidate for a fourth term.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he also issued petitions to J. Eugene Roberts of Hubbard. He said Roberts did not indicate what office he would seek in the primary election next May.

Roberts, a candidate for lieutenant governor in former years, has been reported ready to enter the race for attorney general on the Republican ticket.

The news about the potential hazard of radioactive fallout from thermonuclear weapons burst out of secrecy. Twenty-seven Japanese fishermen announced to the world the first fateful news about the lurking catastrophe that may possibly lie in wait for all of us. In this instance the official policy of secrecy proved inept.

When the secret came out, through the wrong channels, the shock to world opinion rivalled in its own way the blast of the H-bomb itself.

"True, information about the radioactive fallout problem was subsequently released to the public early this year and further information has since followed. But there is still more that must be explained to the public."

Then Murray explains:

"The thermonuclear bomb crosses the threshold into a separate category of power by reason of the sheer force and reach of its blast. Its explosion is so tremendous that it must be reckoned as a different kind of explosion. But this is not the more important difference. The thermonuclear bomb . . .releases dangerous radioactive fission products into the atmosphere . . . A sufficiently large number of such explosions would render the earth uninhabitable to man. . ."

Sub Teachers Play Big Role In Education

George Hartman, superintendent of Circleville city schools, has renewed his warning that the city school system is vulnerable in its relatively small number of substitute teachers, ready on short notice.

He said it is true that the city schools have little difficulty in finding enough qualified regulars. But substitutes play a vital role in the educational picture, he pointed out, since they are needed to step in and take over classes when the regulars are ill, or unable to report for some other reason.

Following is the current list of substitute teachers and the grades in which they may teach.

Mrs. Eleanor Adkins, 5-12; Mrs. Lois Anderson, 9-12; Mrs. Miriam Banker, 3-8; Mrs. Joe Bell, 1-8; Florence Brown, 1-8; Mrs. Jean Brudzinski, 7-12; Mrs. Pauline Clifton, 8-12; Mrs. Brunelle Downing, 1-8; Marie Hamilton, 1-8.

* * *

Mrs. Florene Heeter, 1-8; Mrs. Helen Henry, 9-12; Mrs. Mazie Hitler, 1-8; Helen Hoffman, 1-8; Florence Hoffman, 1-8; Carrie Johnson, 1-8; Mrs. Beatrice Kifer, 1-8; Reba Lee, 7-12; Dorothy MacArthur, 1-4; Mrs. Helen McGinnis, 9-12.

Mrs. Neale Phillips, 7-12; Jeanette Reichelderfer, 1-8; Carl Smith, 9-12; Mrs. Lillian Smith, 1-8; Mrs. Howard Stevenson, 9-12; Mrs. Louise Story, 1-8; Harold Strous, 4-12; Mrs. Edith Ulm, 1-8; Mrs. Edith Vlerebome, 1-12; Mrs. Kathryn Barnhill, 1-8.

Many on this list also substitute in the county schools.

Cottage Integration Works OK In Ohio Training Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Integration of boys under 15 at Boys Industrial School cottages has worked well, and in about one year there will be no segregation by race or creed there or at the Girls Industrial School.

Those plans were disclosed today by John Ferguson, chief of the State Division of Juvenile Research and Classification.

He said desegregation began at the girls school near Delaware about two years ago. The "pilot study" at the boys school at Lancaster—largest such institution in the nation—began Oct. 29.

Under the new setup, both Negro and white boys live in the same cottage. There never has been segregation at the school's reception cottage, hospital, discipline squad family, in classrooms, or shops.

"We think integration will help us in working with the boys," said Ferguson, "because it eliminates some potential problems. The boys won't have a chance to complain of unequal treatment."

More than 100 years ago, Ohio adopted the parent plan for watching over delinquent boys in state institutions. The cottages where the boys lived were small, only large enough for about eight boys. In each cottage a man and wife acted as "cottage parents." The entire unit was considered a family.

As cottages grew in size, it became apparent the parent plan was one in name only, as the cottages were more like dormitories than family units.

Cottage parents work from 6 a. m. until 9 p. m., with hours off during the day while the inmates are at school or at work. The working hours will be changed July 1, the day State Mental Hygiene and Correction employes go on the 44-hour week as mandated by the Legislature.

Ferguson said cottage parents probably will be put on a shift basis, with the husband working an entire shift and the wife but part of the day. They would have other institution duties when the inmates are away from the cottages.

That would mean the end of the parent concept of caring for the boys, and a logical time to begin integration in other cottages.

One of the most perplexing problems facing Ferguson is how to find enough help to keep the institution going well after the 44-hour week goes into effect. While the Legislature gave him more money for salaries than he had before, pay raises took care of the additional funds.

Integration will be delayed some until personnel problems are solved.

A new building, actually two cottages and cafeterias under one roof, will be dedicated in December at the girls school. The girls who will live in that building will be integrated. Ferguson said he should have 13 more people to operate the building — but he doesn't have the money to hire them.

"So we'll spread out the staff we have now," he said.

In January, a new reception cottage opens at the girls school, and there, too, girls will be integrated. "Then we'll go on from there," said Ferguson. "If we complete integration in a year, that's soon. There's no pressing need to hurry it up, while staff problems are unsolved."

Girls now are separated at the girls school, except in the honor cottage, where integration has been in effect since it was built about two years ago.

There never has been segregation at the third state institution for juveniles, the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus. There boys and girls arrive for but short stays, after which they are sent to industrial schools or elsewhere.

The juveniles are separated there only according to age, maturity and their problems.

"We've had no difficulties there," said Ferguson. "And in the six years I've held this job we've had no race problems, unless you call two boys fighting a problem."

Pioneer Flier Dies In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fred J. Gelhaus, pioneer flier and airport engineer, is dead.

Gelhaus, who learned to fly at the Glenn L. Martin School in Los Angeles in 1915, pioneered the first U. S. Air Mail route between New York and Cleveland in 1920 and for the next six years was airport manager for the U. S. Air Mail Service at Bryan, Ohio, and Bellefonte, Pa.

Ike Again Passes Physical Checkup

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisehower got another glowing report from his doctors Wednesday after a 50-minute checkup.

They said he continues to progress satisfactorily in his recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack and shows "no symptoms or evidence of fatigue from the activities of his office or at the farm."

GOP 'Refuses' To Aid Farmer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The administration has the power to improve farm income but refuses to use it, the Democratic chairman of the House Agricultural Appropriations Subcommitee contends.

Rep. James L. Whitten of Mississippi told the 89th convention of the National Grange the government could raise farm income by selling American farm surpluses abroad at competitive prices.

He said the administration does not have a farm program, but "a middleman's program.'

"It simply lowers the bidding price to the farmer, without any requirement that such amount be reflected in the retail price of the finished product," he said.

10 More Insurance Firms Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has filed complaints accusing 10 additional insurance companies of false advertising of accident and health insurance policies.

This made 41 such complaints brought against insurance firms in the last year in the agency's drive to stop what it calls misrepresentation of policy benefits.

The new complaints, FTC said, include charges of misrepresenting such things as the duration of polices, health requirements for policyholders, amounts paid for hospital and surgical bills and the number of types of illnesses covered.

State Treasurer Takes Petition

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy has taken out petitions as a candidate for a fourth term.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he also issued petitions to J. Eugene Roberts of Hubbard. He said Roberts did not indicate what office he would seek in the primary election next May.

Roberts, a candidate for lieutenant governor in former years, has been reported ready to enter the race for attorney general on the Republican ticket.

Sokolsky's

The news about the potential hazard of radioactive fallout from thermonuclear weapons burst out of secrecy. Twenty-seven Japanese fishermen announced to the world the first fateful news about the lurking catastrophe that may possibly lie in wait for all of us. In this instance the official policy of secrecy proved inept.

When the secret came out, through the wrong channels, the shock to world opinion rivalled in its own way the blast of the H-bomb itself.

"True, information about the radioactive fallout problem was subsequently released to the public early this year and further information has since followed. But there is still more that must be explained to the public."

Then Murray explains:

"The thermonuclear bomb crosses the threshold into a separate category of power by reason of the sheer force and reach of its blast. Its explosion is so tremendous that it must be reckoned as a different kind of explosion. But this is not the more important difference. The thermonuclear bomb . . .releases dangerous radioactive fission products into the atmosphere . . . A sufficiently large number of such explosions would render the earth uninhabitable to man. . ."

Sub Teachers Play Big Role In Education

George Hartman, superintendent of Circleville city schools, has renewed his warning that the city school system is vulnerable in its relatively small number of substitute teachers, ready on short notice.

He said it is true that the city schools have little difficulty in finding enough qualified regulars. But substitutes play a vital role in the educatioual picture, he pointed out, since they are needed to step in and take over classes when the regulars are ill, or unable to report for some other reason.

Following is the current list of substitute teachers and the grades in which they may teach.

Mrs. Eleanor Adkins, 5-12; Mrs. Lois Anderson, 9-12; Mrs. Miriam Banker, 3-8; Mrs. Joe Bell, 1-8; Florence Brown, 1-8; Mrs. Jean Brudzinski, 7-12; Mrs. Pauline Clifton, 8-12; Mrs. Brunelle Downing, 1-8; Marie Hamilton, 1-8.

* * *

Mrs. Florene Heeter, 1-8; Mrs. Helen Henry, 9-12; Mrs. Mazie Hitler, 1-8; Helen Hoffman, 1-8; Florence Hoffman, 1-8; Carrie Johnson, 1-8; Mrs. Beatrice Kifer, 1-8; Reba Lee, 7-12; Dorothy MacArthur, 1-4; Mrs. Helen McGinnis, 9-12.

Mrs. Neale Phillips, 7-12; Jeanette Reichelderfer, 1-8; Carl Smith, 9-12; Mrs. Lillian Smith, 1-8; Mrs. Howard Stevenson, 9-12; Mrs. Louise Story, 1-8; Harold Strous, 4-12; Mrs. Edith Ulm, 1-8; Mrs. Edith Vlerebome, 1-12; Mrs. Kathryn Barnhill, 1-8.

Many on this list also substitute in the county schools.

Spread of the Good News

JESUS PREACHES AND SENDS HIS DISCIPLES OUT TO DO LIKEWISE

Scripture—Luke 8:1-21; 9:1-6; 10:1-24

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AFTER THE DINNER with the Pharisee whom Jesus chided for his discourtesy, and the forgiveness of the woman who had "sinned much," Jesus "went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God: and the twelve were with Him."

Then we are told that certain women, whom He had healed, ministered to Him. After leaving His father's house, Jesus had no fixed habitation. He frequently spent the night in the mountains. Of these women we know the names of Mary Magdalene, and Joanne, who was the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward. About Suzanne we know nothing more. Luke is the only one that mentions these women who were devoted to Him and ministered to His needs.

When people gathered about Jesus He told them the parable of the sower. This husbandman must have been rather a careless person, for some of his seed he dropped by the wayside, where, as any child could have foretold, it was immediately gobbled by the birds.

Some of the seed fell on a rock, and withered because there was no moisture to nourish it. Some fell among thorns which grew fast and choked it. However, some fell on good ground and grew up and yielded a fine harvest.

Jesus ended his story by saying, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." This could be brought home to the children by asking them how many listen to their parents' or their teachers' commands and admonitions and obey the first and try to govern their conduct by the latter?

Those that do are likely to grow up to become good citizens, obedient to the laws of the land and leaders in their fields of endeavor. Too often those who are disobedient to those in authority and refuse to listen to good advice, become the "problem children" of their time.

Very briefly we may mention the episode when Jesus, surrounded by the multitudes was told that His mother and brothers were near, wanting to see Him. His answer may seem cold to some: "My mother and My brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it."

Jesus' brothers never seem to have been disciples of His. He doubtless cared for them, especially for His mother, but now He was away from home, His chief thought and work must be to spread the gospel during the short time remaining Him on earth.

Then Jesus called His 12 disciples and gave them power to cast out devils and cure diseases. He then sent them out to spread the good news and to heal. He gave them explicit instructions. They were to take very little with them, and were to stay at any home that would receive them and continue there until they left the town or village, healing any that were sick in the house. If they were repulsed, they were to shake the dust of that place from their feet.

After that Jesus appointed 70 disciples to go out to spread the message. He gave them, too, implicit instructions. When they called at a house they were to say, "Peace be to this house," and if they remained in the house they were not to be critical of the food served them—even if they suspected it was not ceremonially pure.

"And heal the sick therein." Christ told them, giving them the power. This group reported to Jesus that "even the devils are subject unto us by Thy name." Of course their rejoicing was natural under the circumstances, but Jesus uttered a word of warning, saying:

"Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven."

Thus the good news of the gospel—(a word that means good news or good tidings) was spread. How far that message has spread since their time those pioneer missionaries could not possibly know, but Jesus did.

Roman Catholics Rap Poor Movies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States will campaign through the church's Legion of Decency against what the bishops call a "rising tide of moral laxity" in the movies.

Plans for a "revitalization of the aims and purposes" of the legion, a Roman Catholic organization for moral evaluation of motion pictures, were announced through the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

NCWC said the program was approved at the annual meeting of cardinals, archbishops and bishops after the churchmen heard a report of their committee on motion pictures.

Bible Words To Live By

COLOSSIANS 3:17, 23—"Whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. Whatever your task, work heartily as serving the Lord." (RSV)

* * *

TVE Apostle Paul admonished the Colossians that their Christian faith could best be evidenced by their superior workmanship, and their efficiency as well as by their attitude toward their work.

Paul didn't say it, but no doubt he knew, that "Life is 90 percent attitude." He wanted them to know that the best way they could recommend their new religious faith to their fellow Colossians was by demonstrating what religion does for one's life in one's daily living.

"Whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus. Whatever your task, work heartily." He told them to be enthusiastic about their work, and to do a better job than their nonbelieving fellow workmen—and to be happier in doing it.

A religion that does not find expression in the devotee's work-a-day life likely finds but little expression in any part of his life.

New Machine Tool Orders Zooming

CLEVELAND (AP) — New orders for machine tools last month were the highest of any month since July of 1952, the National Machine Builders Assn. reports.

October new orders totaled $103,400,000, up from $61,300,000 in September.

Louis Polk of Dayton, president of the association, said the October surge was "a natural reflection of the machine tool show" in Chicago last September.

"Some companies had delayed buying until they could come to the show and see the new models," he said, adding that "it is as yet too early, however, to judge as to whether the October upsurge indicates a long-term trend."

Luke is the only one that mentions these women who were devoted to Him and ministered to His needs.

When people gathered about Jesus He told them the parable of the sower. This husbandman must have been rather a careless person, for some of his seed he dropped by the wayside, where, as any child could have foretold, it was immediately gobbled by the birds.

Some of the seed fell on a rock, and withered because there was no moisture to nourish it. Some fell among thorns which grew fast and choked it. However, some fell on good ground and grew up and yielded a fine harvest.

Jesus ended his story by saying, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." This could be brought home to the children by asking them how many listen to their parents' or their teachers' commands and admonitions and obey the first and try to govern their conduct by the latter?

Those that do are likely to grow up to become good citizens, obedient to the laws of the land and leaders in their fields of endeavor. Too often those who are disobedient to those in authority and refuse to listen to good advice, become the "problem children" of their time.

Very briefly we may mention the episode when Jesus, surrounded by the multitudes was told that His mother and brothers were near, wanting to see Him. His answer may seem cold to some: "My mother and My brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it."

Jesus' brothers never seem to have been disciples of His. He doubtless cared for them, especially for His mother, but now He was away from home, His chief thought and work must be to spread the gospel during the short time remaining Him on earth.

Then Jesus called His 12 disciples and gave them power to cast out devils and cure diseases. He then sent them out to spread the good news and to heal. He gave them explicit instructions. They were to take very little with them, and were to stay at any home that would receive them and continue there until they left the town or village, healing any that were sick in the house. If they were repulsed, they were to shake the dust of that place from their feet.

After that Jesus appointed 70 disciples to go out to spread the message. He gave them, too, implicit instructions. When they called at a house they were to say, "Peace be to this house," and if they remained in the house they were not to be critical of the food served them—even if they suspected it was not ceremonially pure.

"And heal the sick therein." Christ told them, giving them the power. This group reported to Jesus that "even the devils are subject unto us by Thy name." Of course their rejoicing was natural under the circumstances, but Jesus uttered a word of warning, saying:

"Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven."

Thus the good news of the gospel—(a word that means good news or good tidings) was spread. How far that message has spread since their time those pioneer missionaries could not possibly know, but Jesus did.

Roman Catholics Rap Poor Movies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States will campaign through the church's Legion of Decency against what the bishops call a "rising tide of moral laxity" in the movies.

Plans for a "revitalization of the aims and purposes" of the legion, a Roman Catholic organization for moral evaluation of motion pictures, were announced through the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

NCWC said the program was approved at the annual meeting of cardinals, archbishops and bishops after the churchmen heard a report of their committee on motion pictures.

Bible Words To Live By

COLOSSIANS 3:17, 23—"Whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through him. Whatever your task, work heartily as serving the Lord." (RSV)

* * *

TVE Apostle Paul admonished the Colossians that their Christian faith could best be evidenced by their superior workmanship, and their efficiency as well as by their attitude toward their work.

Paul didn't say it, but no doubt he knew, that "Life is 90 percent attitude." He wanted them to know that the best way they could recommend their new religious faith to their fellow Colossians was by demonstrating what religion does for one's life in one's daily living.

"Whatever you do, in word or deed, do everything in the name of the Lord Jesus. Whatever your task, work heartily." He told them to be enthusiastic about their work, and to do a better job than their nonbelieving fellow workmen—and to be happier in doing it.

A religion that does not find expression in the devotee's work-a-day life likely finds but little expression in any part of his life.

New Machine Tool Orders Zooming

CLEVELAND (AP) — New orders for machine tools last month were the highest of any month since July of 1952, the National Machine Builders Assn. reports.

October new orders totaled $103,400,000, up from $61,300,000 in September.

Louis Polk of Dayton, president of the association, said the October surge was "a natural reflection of the machine tool show" in Chicago last September.

"Some companies had delayed buying until they could come to the show and see the new models," he said, adding that "it is as yet too early, however, to judge as to whether the October upsurge indicates a long-term trend."

Ohio Republican State Expected To Come Early

Democrats To Delay Announcements Pending Statement By Lausche

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP)—Republicans expect to field an early slate of candidates for statewide offices while Democrats wait for Gov. Frank J. Lausche to declare.

Latest hat in the GOP ring came from Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill of Marietta, former Ohio House speaker.

The three-term attorney general announced for the gubernatorial nomination next May at a press breakfast organized to get maximum publicity from a declaration virtually everyone expected. More than a score of news and camera men attended.

O'Neill will go against Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, former Medina mayor, who announced for governor last week.

Brown's announcement promptly brought in to the open two candidates for lieutenant governor. They are Paul M. Herbert of Columbus, who formerly held that office, and Dr. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay, former Celina mayor and councilman.

A similar rush failed to develop immediately for attorney general. Prospects reportedly considering whether to jump included Mayor Carl W. Rich of Cincinnati, City Attorney Chalmers P. Wylie of Columbus who formerly worked for O'Neill, J. Eugene Roberts of Girard, 1950 nominee for lieutenant governor, and William Saxbe of Mechanicsburg, former House speaker and candidate for U.S. senator.

On the Democratic side, Attorney Paul F. Ward of Columbus is expected to announce later for the nomination. He was the party's 1952 nominee.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown recently issued petitions to himself for the Republican nomination for a fourth term. Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati, a former secretary of state, said he would oppose Brown.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, former Columbus mayor who opposed Lausche for governor in 1952, has indicated he would seek another four-year term in his present post. His announcement is due any minute.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy is drafting a re-election announcement for release in a few days. A Republican, he will seek a fourth term.

Reports ciculated that Supreme Court Judge Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland might run for chief justice, a post now held by Democrat Carl V. Weygandt of Lakewood.

Another rumor has Joseph T. Ferguson ready to run for auditor, a post Ferguson held for four terms until a clash with the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft dimmed his political star.

Some quarter speculated that Ferguson might have opposition for the Democratic nomination for auditor. They said it could come from John W. Donahey, Hudson insurance man, or John J. Gallagher of Cleveland, the 1952 Democratic nominee for state treasurer. Ferguson defeated Donahey and Gallagher for the nomination for treasurer in 1954 but lost to Tracy.

Lausche continues to keep friends and foes alike guessing. He has said only that he will run for something.

"My chances of being elected senator are much greater than being elected governor," he told a Cincinnati "Meet the Press" gathering.

But Lausche, who previously has indicated a liking for a sixth term, did not say he would run for the job now held by U. S. Sen. George H. Bender of Cleveland, a sure Republican starter.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When the last piece of your Thanksgiving turkey is gone, you'll find a good range of attractive buys in other meats in your local food store this coming weekend.

That turkey may have cost you four cents a pound more than the bird you bought a year earlier, but most other meats are cheaper now than then. As the meat packers have been telling you, pork is a fine buy, and beef has come down a bit, too.

"The best buy is loin of pork," one meat retailer said. "We'll have loins on sale next week at six to eight cents a pound below prices of a year ago. Smoked hams are now selling at eight cents a pound cheaper than in November 1954."

The American Meat Institute took a survey in the Chicago area last week and reported that the average of all meat prices in retail stores was down 1 per cent from a year earlier. Beef items were down 7 to 15 per cent, smoked pinics 15 per cent, other pork items 14 to 25 per cent and legs of lamb three per cent.

Aside from pork, weekend shoppers will find good buys in steaks, prime ribs, chuck roast and legs of lamb.

Egg prices will be two to four cents a dozen higher than a week ago in many areas.

The price of many vegetables moved higher at the wholesale level this week, but there is still a good variety available at reasonable prices.

Clevelanders Win In Appeals Court

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two Clevelanders won appeals recently of convictions on charges of violating the Ohio Securities Act in real estate deals.

In Cuyahoga County Appellate Court, a conviction against Sam Hirsch, 45, was reversed. The Summit County Appellate Court reversed a decision against H. M. Silberg, 38.

Both men had been fined and sentenced to prison terms by Common Pleas Judge Parker Fulton, Hirsch after a jury trial and Silberg after waiving his rights to trial by jury.

Both appeals courts held that the pair had not violated blue sky laws in a land contract deal involving sales of suites in a cooperative on an installment basis.

'Revolution' Seen Coming In Church Mission Work

DAYTON—A revolution in foreign missions is on the way. Because of profoundly changed conditions in the mission countries, some policies and methods which served so well during the last 100 years are now both obsolete and irrelevant, leaders in this world-wide field declare.

One of the most potent reasons for the change is the fact that there are now indigenous Protestant churches in almost every country of the world. Known as the Younger Churches, these new Christian groups are fired with the same zeal that operated in America 100 years ago when thousands of young missionaries went forth in answer to the call to "Evangelize the World in This Generation." Some of these new churches have even begun to send missionaries to other lands as well as to seek to evangelize their own people.

Further, the countries where American missionaries work are now in ferment. Faced by revolutionary movements on the one side and by nationalistic drives on the other, many of them are erupting into waves of antiforeignism from time to time.

As R. Pierce Beaver, recently director of the Missionary Research Library and now professor of missions of the Federated Theological Faculty, University of Chicago, has said in a recent article on mission trends:

"The old structures (of the missionary enterprise) have been weakened to the point of tottering, but they have not yet been pulled down. The blueprints of the new enterprise are yet to be drawn, but here and there attempts at preliminary sketches are being made."

As a result, the National Council of Churches' Division of Foreign Missions is confronted with many pressing issues, as it looks toward its Divisional Assembly here December 4-7. Some of them revolve around these six questions:

How do mission groups

1. Discharge their responsibility to witness to the Christian faith in the face of the new nationalism and antagonism to foreigners?

2. Arrive at overall policy when the present missionary enterprise is carried out by many different denominations based in many countries?

3. Adjust from a movement that was almost entirely white and Western?

4. Encourage the interchange of missionaries among the young churches themselves on a world-wide basis, with the Western world only one of the sending areas?

5. Make clear to the American churches the unchanging mission, but the necessity for changing policies?

6. Move men and money quickly into an emergency situation?

Interwoven with each of these questions—as mission groups necessarily emphasize the improvement of the health, education and welfare of the people at the village level—is the supreme question: What is the place of Evangelism?

In the words of the Foreign Missions chairman, Dr. Rolf A. Syrdal:

"The ministry of healing, the schools, the agricultural programs and other forms of social service are a pure manifestation of God's love. Still we dare not omit the spoken message of the dying and risen Saviour lest we give only things of lesser value and leave out that which is of utmost value—the saving of the individual and the creation of a right spirit a re-birth in Christ.

"We meet the conditions of our world today in eternal confidence. When one door closes, we use another. When one phase ends, we begin another . . . pliable in methods, but firm in our mission and final goal."

This elasticity calls for much change, both in attitude and action. Eventually, it may even necessitate disuse of the term "foreign" in connection with the entire mission task, missionary leaders say. As more young nationals are trained in each country to carry the Word of God to their people and to meet their spiritual and practical living needs, there may be less need for "foreign" missionaries to carry out this part of the mission program.

Leaders of mission groups in this country point out, however, that they do not look forward to their own ultimate demise. Aside from today's job of training others, they face the broader task of molding a world mission, of undertaking a global program that is interracial, international and inter-denominational.

Detectives Hired By School Board

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—The East St. Louis School Board has hired a private detective agency to check on absenteeism of teachers and custodians.

Edwin G. Barmann, board president, said the double-check has been in progress for the last three months. The firm gets $825 a month for its work.

Barmann said the school district paid $59,000 for teacher and $30,000 for custodian absenteeism in the fiscal year ended June 30

Portsmouth Vote Tied By State Decision

COLUMBUS (AP)—A decision by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has resulted in a tie vote for a Portsmouth City Council post in the November election.

The state's chief election official ruled that a disputed ballot should be counted for Merle J. Odle, a candidate for councilman.

The decision gave Odle 1,078 votes to tie with Cecil Literal.

The unofficial count originally gave Odle, 1,078 votes to 1,075 for Literal. On a recount in 12 precincts asked by Literal, he received 1,078 votes. The recount gave Odle 1,077 votes with one ballot in dispute.

Although the councilmanic election was nonpartisan, Odle is a Republican and Literal a Democrat.

Two Republican members of the Scioto County election board voted to count the disputed ballot for Odle, but the two Democratic board members favored Literal. That put the decision up to Brown.

The secretary of state said that as a result of his decision, it will be up to the board to decide the winner by 10.

The disputed ballot contained an "X" mark before Odle's name. But the name "Laurance Kimble" was written in on the ballot under the candidates' names. No "X" mark appeared before Kimble's name.

'Revolution' Seen Coming In Church Mission Work

DAYTON—A revolution in foreign missions is on the way. Because of profoundly changed conditions in the mission countries, some policies and methods which served so well during the last 100 years are now both obsolete and irrelevant, leaders in this world-wide field declare.

One of the most potent reasons for the change is the fact that there are now indigenous Protestant churches in almost every country of the world. Known as the Younger Churches, these new Christian groups are fired with the same zeal that operated in America 100 years ago when thousands of young missionaries went forth in answer to the call to "Evangelize the World in This Generation." Some of these new churches have even begun to send missionaries to other lands as well as to seek to evangelize their own people.

Further, the countries where American missionaries work are now in ferment. Faced by revolutionary movements on the one side and by nationalistic drives on the other, many of them are erupting into waves of antiforeignism from time to time.

As R. Pierce Beaver, recently director of the Missionary Research Library and now professor of missions of the Federated Theological Faculty, University of Chicago, has said in a recent article on mission trends:

"The old structures (of the missionary enterprise) have been weakened to the point of tottering, but they have not yet been pulled down. The blueprints of the new enterprise are yet to be drawn, but here and there attempts at preliminary sketches are being made."

As a result, the National Council of Churches' Division of Foreign Missions is confronted with many pressing issues, as it looks toward its Divisional Assembly here December 4-7. Some of them revolve around these six questions:

How do mission groups

1. Discharge their responsibility to witness to the Christian faith in the face of the new nationalism and antagonism to foreigners?

2. Arrive at overall policy when the present missionary enterprise is carried out by many different denominations based in many countries?

3. Adjust from a movement that was almost entirely white and Western?

4. Encourage the interchange of missionaries among the young churches themselves on a world-wide basis, with the Western world only one of the sending areas?

5. Make clear to the American churches the unchanging mission, but the necessity for changing policies?

6. Move men and money quickly into an emergency situation?

Interwoven with each of these questions—as mission groups necessarily emphasize the improvement of the health, education and welfare of the people at the village level—is the supreme question: What is the place of Evangelism?

In the words of the Foreign Missions chairman, Dr. Rolf A. Syrdal:

"The ministry of healing, the schools, the agricultural programs and other forms of social service are a pure manifestation of God's love. Still we dare not omit the spoken message of the dying and risen Saviour lest we give only things of lesser value and leave out that which is of utmost value—the saving of the individual and the creation of a right spirit a re-birth in Christ.

"We meet the conditions of our world today in eternal confidence. When one door closes, we use another. When one phase ends, we begin another . . . pliable in methods, but firm in our mission and final goal."

This elasticity calls for much change, both in attitude and action. Eventually, it may even necessitate disuse of the term "foreign" in connection with the entire mission task, missionary leaders say. As more young nationals are trained in each country to carry the Word of God to their people and to meet their spiritual and practical living needs, there may be less need for "foreign" missionaries to carry out this part of the mission program.

Senate Probers 'Flooded' By Auto Dealer Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) reports that many automobile dealers complain "they are on the brink of disaster "because they are being forced to handle "more cars than they can sell on a sound financial basis."

He said the Senate Judiciary Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee is "being flooded with letters" from dealers who complain of "pressures placed on them by the General Motors high command."

He said these dealers are forced to grant long terms for repayment on new cars "and exaggerated exchange values" on old cars that are traded in.

O'Mahoney said that most of these dealers and many independent manufacturers and distributors of auto parts and supplies complain that they "are being squeezed" by General Motors policy but at the same time asked the Senate group "not to mention my name."

O'Mahoney, who has been conducting several weeks of public testimony on what he calls a study of General Motors, said senators will take every effort "to see that there will be no reprisals against any dealers or part manufacturers by General Motors."

He said that top GM executives will be called for public testimony after the subcommittee has assembled "the facts."

So far, the senator said, there is evidence that:

1. GM bought two small engine companies and through them "took over the whole market" for diesel engines used in railroad locomotives.

2. GM invested in or bought control of local transit companies in order to sell GM buses and thus "forced out independent bus manufacturers."

3. Recently GM has moved into the manufacture of heavy - earth moving equipment by buying out one of the large companies in this field and is "following the same pattern."

4. Now GM is expanding into the field of automotive parts and accessories "formerly held by independent manufacturers and jobbers for 30 to 40 years."

"The control of the motor industry has fallen into the hands of this giant corporation (GM)," O'Mahoney said, adding that the problem for Congress is whether "to permit this trend to continue."

O'Mahoney said he and other lawmakers oppose government control of industry but favor government regulations that will assure free enterprise.

Tuesday John W. Duke, a Nashville, Tenn., auto supply wholesaler, suggested the General Motors Corp. "should be broke into single, separate and distinct operations."

More Germans Leave Poland

BUECHEN, Germany (AP)—Another contingent of Germans has reached this West German village from former German territory now held by Communist Poland.

The resettlement is being carried out under a year-old German-Polish Red Cross agreement. A total of 739 Germans has migrated from Poland to West Germany under the program.

Baghdad Pact Is Linked Up With NATO

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Ancient, Baghdad has embarked on a new role as a headquarters in the round-the - world defense chain against Red aggression.

Leaders of the four other "Baghdad Pact" nations headed homeward from Iraq's host capital after completing a blueprint for the new organization which from headquarters here will oversee their military, political and economic cooperation.

Besides Iraq, the alliance includes Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Britain. The United States already has begun "military and political liaison" with the group, sending Ambassador W. J. Gallman and Adm. John H. Cassady to the inaugural meeting as observers.

Launched originally by Turkey and Iraq, the defense chain along the Soviet Union's South Asian frontier links up with NATO through the membership of Britain and Turkey in that Western lineup, and with Southeast Asia's SEATO via Pakistan and Britain.

In a communique, at the end of the two-day meeting, the pact nations announced plans to set up this organization patterned on the NATO and SEATO commands.

Warren Firemen Delay Work Cut

WARREN (AP) — Firemen here have voted to delay until Jan. 1 the change of their hours from 63 to 40 a week.

The fire department, it is estimated, would need 36 more men to provide the same protection to the city under the shorter work week.

The 40-hour week was authorized by a one-vote margin in a referendum at the last election, but a recount is to be made Dec. 1. The referendum provided that the 40-hour week become effective Nov. 22, and the firemen worked the reduced schedule for the first time Tuesday.

More Germans Leave Poland

BUECHEN, Germany (AP)—Another contingent of Germans has reached this West German village from former German territory now held by Communist Poland.

The resettlement is being carried out under a year-old German-Polish Red Cross agreement. A total of 739 Germans has migrated from Poland to West Germany under the program.

Baghdad Pact Is Linked Up With NATO

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Ancient, Baghdad has embarked on a new role as a headquarters in the round-the - world defense chain against Red aggression.

Leaders of the four other "Baghdad Pact" nations headed homeward from Iraq's host capital after completing a blueprint for the new organization which from headquarters here will oversee their military, political and economic cooperation.

Besides Iraq, the alliance includes Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Britain. The United States already has begun "military and political liaison" with the group, sending Ambassador W. J. Gallman and Adm. John H. Cassady to the inaugural meeting as observers.

Launched originally by Turkey and Iraq, the defense chain along the Soviet Union's South Asian frontier links up with NATO through the membership of Britain and Turkey in that Western lineup, and with Southeast Asia's SEATO via Pakistan and Britain.

In a communique, at the end of the two-day meeting, the pact nations announced plans to set up this organization patterned on the NATO and SEATO commands.

Warren Firemen Delay Work Cut

WARREN (AP) — Firemen here have voted to delay until Jan. 1 the change of their hours from 63 to 40 a week.

The fire department, it is estimated, would need 36 more men to provide the same protection to the city under the shorter work week.

The 40-hour week was authorized by a one-vote margin in a referendum at the last election, but a recount is to be made Dec. 1. The referendum provided that the 40-hour week become effective Nov. 22, and the firemen worked the reduced schedule for the first time Tuesday.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We, a group of executives' wives, would like your counsel on a problem that seems to get worse every year. Our husbands' secretaries have a club (with a whimsical title) and every year the members give a party for their bosses.

The first party started innocently enough. It was a dinner, complete with a speaker. But in the last few years it has turned into a cocktail party, resulting in quite a few marital misunderstandings.

Although the cocktail party is supposedly in the early evening, from 5 to 8 o'clock, too many husbands don't get home until the wee hours of the morning. Other husbands, who leave the party in proper time, are teased unmercifully as being henpecked, sissies, etc.

As it happens, I am an old-fashioned wife and see no reason for these parties—where all are drinking on an empty stomach and saying things they wouldn't say ordinarily. Fortunately, my husband's secretary is a lady; and my husband has very high standards and principles. But I have heard by the grapevine that several girls are going to try to "break him down" at the next party, late this monh.

Are we wives foolish to be concerned?

T. W.

DEAR T. W.: If your husband's secretary is a lady (as you say) she must be the exception, not the rule, in this club with the whimsical tile. My deduction is based on the fact that ladies don't ask married men to be guests of honor at their parties, without asking their wives also.

I've been discussing these parties for bosses, which you describe, with a twice-married woman of forthright character. Speaking of husbands who are teased unmercifully as being henpecked, sissies, etc., for leaving the parties early, she says: "They leave early because they are mature-minded men; because they are bored with these silly girls. Being mature, they can take the teasing in stride."

Then she adds, "I suppose some other husbands linger on, despite being bored, because they would be just as bored at home."

Speaking for wives, she says she doesn't see much point in domestically dueling with this type of secretarial aggression. She thinks manly men, the only kind who give women a fair deal anyway, don't need wifely instruction in order to cope correctly with such a problem.

Good Wives Frown

Her theory is interesting, but I am not sure that I agree with it wholly. I think good wives have immeasurable influence in setting the tone of married behavior—not by nagging and dueling, certainly; but rather, by confidently endorsing the right as they see it. And when the average well-meaning husband knows that his wife seriously disapproves certain situations or companions, as being unworthy of him, he is apt to see less of them than he might otherwise.

Thus, in my opinion, you wives are foolish to give any sort of countenance to these "triangle" cocktail parties. And in a sense you do countenance them when you don't speak out decisively against their outlandish absudrity and impropriety. To whom should you speak? Well, to your husbands, I think—in candid ridicule and condemnation of the whole tasteless proceedings. And also to the secretaries, individually, if opportunity offers.

If your husbands were men of spirit, each would take his wife to the fete in his honor, as a tacit rebuke to the secretaries' oversight, in failing to round out the guest list properly. And if the wives are treated as unwelcome, the men ought to bear them away with chivalrous loyalty, and let the party-purpose expire.

Turnpike Chief Suggesting Part-Toll, Part-Free Road

COLUMBUS (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, James W. Shocknessy, is suggesting the state pay for part of the projected Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike and allow motorists to use those portions without paying tolls.

The Ohio Turnpike Commission and the state, working together can produce the type of road Ohio wants," Shocknessy said. He added that in his opinion the 400-mile super-highway with a spur to Toledo cannot be built as a toll road.

The commission decided informally to take up Shocknessy's suggestions on building a part-toll, part-free highway.

The state highway director, Samuel O. Linzell, who also is an ex-officio member of the commission, said, "I'm sure something has to be done; I thoroughly agree with you."

Linzell said he expects the next session of Congress will provide funds for improving main interstate highways in Ohio, including U.S. 42.

Shocknessy discussed near-final drafts of reports from two firms of consulting engineers, the J. E. Greiner Co. of Baltimore, which assembled construction data, and Coverdale & Colpitts of New York City, which put together traffic and revenue information.

He said the reports did not look as "lush" as the commission had hoped, and that if they had looked "lush" he probably wouldn't be making his suggestions.

Shocknessy said he was "dismayed at the vast amount of money" it would cost to build the new turnpike. Engineers set the cost at 516 million dollars.

At the same time, Shocknessy suggested the toll road need not be constructed to the same high standards everywhere, but that more money should be spent on sections bearing the heaviest traffic and other sections could be built more cheaply because they would not have the same traffic load.

"I personally do not consider the highway need be a great monument," Shocknessy said.

"Neither is a toll facility with revenue bond financing the final answer to all problems connected with building facilities needed by the public."

He said he wants the commission to consider whether the state shouuld build portions of the turnpike that might suffer in competition with present free roads or where improvements to those roads are contemplated.

Shocknessy specifically mentioned U. S. 40 between Columbus and Springfield.

"I'd like to know whether it can be considered that the toll facility will connect with U.S. 40 east of Springfield," Shocknessy said.

The Springfield area residents could travel U.S. 40 free of charge and get onto the turnpike closer to the Columbus area. U.S. 40 in that area now is a four-lane divided highway.

Shocknessy said the state highway department in its improvement program is beefing up existing roads so they can handle heavy traffic.

These, wherever possible, should be integrated with the proposed turnpike, he said, mentioning U.S. 42 improvements in that connection.

Using U.S. 40 between Columbus and Springfield would cut off 25 to 30 million dollars of the cost of the turnpike, Shocknessy estimated.

He said it was foolish tob uild sections of the turnpike in areas where they would compete with excellent state roads.

"The reports (from the consulting engineers), as they are now, will terminate (building of the turnpike) in a dead end," Shocknessy said.

"We must not terminate in a dead end."

Shocknessy prefaced his remarks with the statement that he was speaking only for himself and to the commission might, after Jan. 1, take another look at its toll schedules for the Northern Ohio Turnpike to see whether they might be to high.

Only one out of 10 vehicles using the turnpike in October, its frst month of operation, was a truck.

Shocknessy said he opposes a review of the toll schedule at this time, and said consulting engineers agree with him.

Negroes Win Suit Against Cafe

AKRON (AP)—Two Negroes refused service when they sought to buy drinks in a cafe here have been awarded $100 each by a municipal court jury.

The all-white jury of seven women and five men made the award to Robert L. Gibson, head waiter at the University Club, and Mrs. Bessie Fikes. The money will be paid by Walter and Stanley Lepkowski, co-proprietors of the International Cafe.

The jury took only 20 minutes to find the Lepkowskis guilty of discrimination. It acted under an Ohio civil rights law.

5000 Postal Jobs To Be Eliminated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Postoffice Department says its adoption of Hoover Commission recommendations for more effective use of accounting personnel and procedures will make possible the elimination of 5,000 jobs.

"All of the commission recommendations that could be adopted without legislation have been accepted," Postmaster General Summerfield said.

Postal officials said the 5,000 positions could be eliminated in the normal course of job turnovers by not replacing workers who leave. No outright dismissals are contemplated to achieve the cut.

Red Farm Leaders Get U.S. Visit OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five Russian farm leaders have received State Department approval to enter the United States to purchase hybrid corn seed and machinery in Iowa.

The five were part of a 10-member delegation whose earlier request to make a tour of the United States was rejected. A department spokesman said two weeks ago no such big group would be admitted unless a similar U. S. delegation could return the call. The smaller group will not be fingerprinted because they are to be classed as official visitors.

Juvenile Trio Being Queried On Tire Thefts

Three Pennsylvania juveniles, ages 13, 14 and 17, were being held in the Pickaway County jail pending arrival of law enforcement officials from their home state.

The trio, picked up by Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, allegedly admitted stealing auto tires and other equipment in Pennsylvania and transporting the equipment across the state line.

Radcliff apprehended the three youths on Route 56 near Pherson following a radio message from Mt. Sterling police. A motorist had apparently seen the boys suspiciously changing tires on Route 277, had taken down the license number and reported it to Mt. Sterling authorities.

"If more people would note license numbers in cases such as this," the deputy said, "we would be able to pick up suspects easier."

The car in which the three were riding is owned by the oldest boy. The deputy said the trunk of the car held tires and motor oil.

Louisville Negro To Serve As Mayor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Negro will serve as mayor here next week for the first time in the city's history.

Aldermanic President W. S. Milburn, who ordinarily succeeds to the post, also will be out of town.

Beckett, 45, has been an alderman since 1951.

Turnpike Chief Suggesting Part-Toll, Part-Free Road

COLUMBUS (AP) — The chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, James W. Shocknessy, is suggesting the state pay for part of the projected Cincinnati-Conneaut turnpike and allow motorists to use those portions without paying tolls.

The Ohio Turnpike Commission and the state, working together can produce the type of road Ohio wants," Shocknessy said. He added that in his opinion the 400-mile super-highway with a spur to Toledo cannot be built as a toll road.

The commission decided informally to take up Shocknessy's suggestions on building a part-toll, part-free highway.

The state highway director, Samuel O. Linzell, who also is an ex-officio member of the commission, said, "I'm sure something has to be done; I thoroughly agree with you."

Linzell said he expects the next session of Congress will provide funds for improving main interstate highways in Ohio, including U.S. 42.

Shocknessy discussed near-final drafts of reports from two firms of consulting engineers, the J. E. Greiner Co. of Baltimore, which assembled construction data, and Coverdale & Colpitts of New York City, which put together traffic and revenue information.

He said the reports did not look as "lush" as the commission had hoped, and that if they had looked "lush" he probably wouldn't be making his suggestions.

Shocknessy said he was "dismayed at the vast amount of money" it would cost to build the new turnpike. Engineers set the cost at 516 million dollars.

At the same time, Shocknessy suggested the toll road need not be constructed to the same high standards everywhere, but that more money should be spent on sections bearing the heaviest traffic and other sections could be built more cheaply because they would not have the same traffic load.

"I personally do not consider the highway need be a great monument," Shocknessy said.

"Neither is a toll facility with revenue bond financing the final answer to all problems connected with building facilities needed by the public."

He said he wants the commission to consider whether the state shouuld build portions of the turnpike that might suffer in competition with present free roads or where improvements to those roads are contemplated.

Shocknessy specifically mentioned U. S. 40 between Columbus and Springfield.

"I'd like to know whether it can be considered that the toll facility will connect with U.S. 40 east of Springfield," Shocknessy said.

The Springfield area residents could travel U.S. 40 free of charge and get onto the turnpike closer to the Columbus area. U.S. 40 in that area now is a four-lane divided highway.

Shocknessy said the state highway department in its improvement program is beefing up existing roads so they can handle heavy traffic.

These, wherever possible, should be integrated with the proposed turnpike, he said, mentioning U.S. 42 improvements in that connection.

Using U.S. 40 between Columbus and Springfield would cut off 25 to 30 million dollars of the cost of the turnpike, Shocknessy estimated.

He said it was foolish tob uild sections of the turnpike in areas where they would compete with excellent state roads.

"The reports (from the consulting engineers), as they are now, will terminate (building of the turnpike) in a dead end," Shocknessy said.

"We must not terminate in a dead end."

Shocknessy prefaced his remarks with the statement that he was speaking only for himself and to the commission might, after Jan. 1, take another look at its toll schedules for the Northern Ohio Turnpike to see whether they might be to high.

'Mailing Early' Campaign Off To Early Start

Acting Postmaster Charles Walters is off to an early start in the annual effort to coax out the Christmas mail before it piles up on the last few days.

Walters pointed out that the "Mail Early For Christmas" idea works both ways—it makes sure the gifts will be delivered well ahead of the big day, and it also gives postal workers a better chance to handle the traditional overflow of cards, letters and packages.

Jumping in fast on the heels of the Thanksgiving activity, Walters issued a statement as follows:

"Get out your Christmas list and be sure you have the full name, street and number, city, zone and state for every address.

* * *

"REMEMBER that first-class friends deserve first-class mail, and they get this service when you use three-cent stamps. Now is the time to lay in a good supply along with plenty of heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons and strong cord for your Christmas gift packages.

"Right now is not too early to start your gifts to the most distant points and try to have them all mailed by the first week in December. The postmaster especially requests that you do not mail all of your Christmas cards at the last minute. Those for out-of-state addresses should go by December 10, and all others should be in the mail by at least a week before Christmas.

"Most important of all be sure that each Christmas card and parcel is clearly and accurately addressed. Your cooperation will make it a merrier Christmas for every one."

GOP Chief, Ike Schedule Parley

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower will meet with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall next Monday for a discussion of party matters. It will be the first such talk Eisenhower has held since his illness.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the meeting will take place at the President's invitation, but added that he doubted whether Eisenhower's second term plans would come up.

'Mailing Early' Campaign Off To Early Start

Acting Postmaster Charles Walters is off to an early start in the annual effort to coax out the Christmas mail before it piles up on the last few days.

Walters pointed out that the "Mail Early For Christmas" idea works both ways—it makes sure the gifts will be delivered well ahead of the big day, and it also gives postal workers a better chance to handle the traditional overflow of cards, letters and packages.

Jumping in fast on the heels of the Thanksgiving activity, Walters issued a statement as follows:

"Get out your Christmas list and be sure you have the full name, street and number, city, zone and state for every address.

* * *

"REMEMBER that first-class friends deserve first-class mail, and they get this service when you use three-cent stamps. Now is the time to lay in a good supply along with plenty of heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons and strong cord for your Christmas gift packages.

"Right now is not too early to start your gifts to the most distant points and try to have them all mailed by the first week in December. The postmaster especially requests that you do not mail all of your Christmas cards at the last minute. Those for out-of-state addresses should go by December 10, and all others should be in the mail by at least a week before Christmas.

"Most important of all be sure that each Christmas card and parcel is clearly and accurately addressed. Your cooperation will make it a merrier Christmas for every one."

GOP Chief, Ike Schedule Parley

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower will meet with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall next Monday for a discussion of party matters. It will be the first such talk Eisenhower has held since his illness.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the meeting will take place at the President's invitation, but added that he doubted whether Eisenhower's second term plans would come up.
